Tire Company Distributes $38,000 Yule Bonus

FACTORY AND OFFICE SHARE IN ANNUAL GIFT

Employes on Payroll Before Sept. 1 Get Week's Pay at Average Hourly Earnings.

OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE

Stephens Says Company Expects to Continue 5-Day Week Through Winter.

The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company today distributed a $38,000 Christmas gift to its employes—a gift in which both factory workers and salaried office employes shared.

This bonus was handed to employes as they left work today. Men on the night turn received their checks last night. Those on the two shifts working today were given theirs as they completed their day's work.

Flat Bonus for Some.

To all employes who had been with the company before Sept. 1, the check was for a week's pay, at their average hourly earnings, whether they were on an hourly or piece work basis. Employes who went on the payroll after Sept. 1 received a bonus of half a week's average earning.

A flat bonus of $25 each was paid to all salaried workers.

In addition to the bonus paid today, the company has moved up the second December pay day from Dec. 25 to Dec. 21 so that employes will have money available for the Christmas holiday.

Payroll Passes $2,000,000.

The company's total payroll for the year, it was revealed, will be slightly over $2,000,000, exclusive of today's $38,000 bonus payment.

Accompanying the bonus checks was a letter from George W. Stephens, president and general manager of the company, in which he expressed appreciation to employes for their loyalty to the company, and promised that every effort would be made to keep production on the current schedule through the winter months. The plant is now working a five-day week.

Announces Bonus

George W. Stephens, president and general manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company today announced payment of a $38,000 bonus to all employes, and expressed the hope that present five-day week scheduled could be maintained throughout winter and that next year would see an increase in the company's business.

JAPS RECALL AIR CHIEF IN PANAY ATTACK

Rear Admiral Relieved of Post as Punishment For Sinking U. S. Gunboat.

BLAME YOUNG OFFICERS

Japan Acts Swiftly to Carry Out Pledge to America as It Celebrates Victory.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Rear Admiral Teizo Mitsunami, chief of Japanese naval aerial operations, was relieved of his post today as a result of the bombing of the United States gunboat Panay.

Domei (Japanese News Agency) which carried the announcement of his removal, declared the Japanese government was acting swiftly to carry out its pledge to America to punish officers responsible for the attack.

It was explained that Mitsunami was recalled because most bombardments in China had been carried out by naval planes.

Blame Young Officers.

Foreign military and naval observers in Shanghai said they believed the Panay bombing and other attacks may have been made by young officers who had disregarded efforts of commanders to control their actions.

A miniature fleet of American and British naval vessels bearing the three dead and most of the survivors of the Panay incident was expected to reach Shanghai some time tomorrow. The boats spent last night at anchor on the mine-strewn Lower Yangtze and were to anchor again tonight.

Japanese forces, meanwhile, planned a formal triumphal entry into fallen Nanking for tomorrow afternoon, while other Japanese columns continued their push into the interior.

Vice Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa was to lead naval forces in a parade from the Yangtze riverfront and General Iwane Matsui was scheduled to enter the city at the head of an army parade through Chungshan gate.

Embassies Escape Damage.

Two hundred Japanese planes were to roar over the fallen capital in celebration of the "epochal achievement of Japanese armed forces."

Japanese officials announced that the American embassy building and other embassy and legation headquarters at Nanking were not damaged in the siege of the city. All Americans and foreigners who remained there were reported safe.

First American report on conditions at Nanking was received from Arthur Menken, Paramount Newsreel cameraman who went through the siege.

"Except for the efforts of three American missionaries," he

2ND INDICTED IN PAROLE QUIZ

Grand Jury Brings Perjury Charge Against Brother of Ex-Pen Convict.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy announced today that the special grand jury investigating Ohio's parole system had voted to indict Andrew Marino, Youngstown automobile dealer, for perjury. Marino testified before the jury last week.

Andrew Marino is a brother of Roy "Happy" Marino, whose 20-year term for bank robbery was commuted in January, 1935, by former Gov. George White. Roy Marino, who served only 14 months in prison, was shot to death last Sept. 9.

The automobile dealer was questioned by the grand jury apparently about his brother's case and the activities of Arch W. Naylor, who has admitted helping convicts obtain paroles for a fee.

Andrew Marino took the witness stand only after he was granted immunity, which did not apply to perjury.

Duffy said the indictment probably would be given to Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds Saturday.

The jury last week indicted Sherman Chrysler of Columbus, constable, on a perjury charge. Chrysler has maintained he told the truth before the jury.

OPEN EVENINGS

Stores Start on Christmas Schedule Saturday Night.

Shoppers in Mansfield will have the evening hours in which to complete their Christmas buying, beginning Saturday night, V. H. Lodde, secretary-manager of the Retail Merchants association, announced today.

"Following a practice of previous years, the majority of the city's retail establishments will remain open until 9 p. m. from Saturday, Dec. 18 to Friday, Dec. 24," Lodde said. This action was recommended by the board of trustees of the merchants association.

"The extra shopping hours will enable late buyers to make Christmas purchases and will make their shopping more convenient for persons employed during the day," Lodde added.

Association officials urged shoppers to take advantage of less crowded conditions in the morning hours, however, to complete their holiday buying.

Roosevelt's Aids Struggle To Pass Wage, Farm Bills

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt's lieutenants in congress tried desperately today to pass the wage-hour bill through the house and the farm bill through the senate without further delay.

Debate over proposed substitutes threatened to hold up both key measures, but leaders forced long sessions in an effort to wear down the opponents.

Neither bill can be sent to the White House before the special session ends Dec. 22 unless there is almost unprecedented speed in conference negotiations between senate and house, but the floor managers still were trying.

House leaders, successful in warding off the first of several suggested substitutes for the wage-hour bill, said "the worst is over." The vote which encouraged them was a 162 to 131 rejection of the American Federation of Labor's proposal.

That measure, offered by Rep. Griswold (D., Ind.), would have written into the law a maximum work week of 40 hours and minimum wages of 40 cents an hour for all industries in interstate commerce.

Soviets Jail Pair With Passports Forged In U. S.

'Robinsons' Suspected In Anti-Government Plot, Moscow Says.

BREAKS SILENCE

Russia Reveals Arrests as Washington Bares Faked Papers.

MOSCOW—(UP)—It was announced officially today that a man and a woman who entered Russia with fraudulent American passports are under arrest, suspected of complicity in an anti-government conspiracy.

The couple, traveling with passports issued in the name of Donald Louis Robinson and Ruth Norma Robinson, are held for investigation. But officials said that a formal charge of involvement in a conspiracy of the Trotskyist movement might be brought against them. The death penalty is possible under this charge.

Maintain Silence.

Ever since the disappearance of the "Robinsons" last week officials had maintained rigid silence as to their fate. The American embassy vainly sought information. But the announcement of the American state department that the couple obtained their passports "on the basis of documents belonging to other persons who are now deceased" broke the silence here.

The newspaper Izvestia, official organ of the government, published today the news that the couple were under arrest. In its story, discussing statements of American followers of Leon Trotsky, exiled war lord, that the "Robinsons" were not connected with the Trotskyist movement, Izvestia said:

"It is noteworthy that American Trotskyists, somehow implicated in this affair, now hasten to cover up the traces and are denying a connection."

Slams Newspapers.

"The ballyhoo concerning the 'Robinson' couple is a typical example of the sensationalism of certain American newspapers.

"The declaration of the state department (that the couple obtained their passports fraudulently) leaves no doubt that it is a question of certain sinister elements trying to pass as Americans."

Thus the implication was not only that the 'Robinsons' got their passports fraudulently but that they were not even Americans.

Rail Vet To Quit

CHARLES N. SHULTZ

SHULTZ RETIRES AFTER 52 YEARS

Pennsylvania Freight Agent Closes Long Railroad Career Dec. 31.

The last day of 1937 will be an important milestone in the career of Charles N. Shultz, freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad in Mansfield. On that day he retires after 52 years of continuous service with the company and turns the keys of his office over to his successor.

After more than a half century of association with one employer, a record few achieve, Shultz, still a comparatively young man, leaves railroading for good.

Seventy years old next April 2, he's going to "start out and enjoy life."

He's ready to turn his job over to a younger man—wants to catch up with his reading and possibly make a tour of United States with his wife. It'll be by train, of course.

A member of city council from the Second ward for the last eight years, Shultz starts his fifth term New Year day. He was re-elected without opposition in the November election.

"I'll have a little more time to spend on my council duties, too," he says.

Recalling his early career with the railroad, Shultz pointed out that the pace of business "is a great deal faster than it was back in 1885 when I first went to work for the road as a messenger at $10 a month."

"That was just a week after I graduated from high school at Crestline, where I was born. I was 17 at the time."

"I've spent nearly 53 years on the job since that time, with one exception," he said. "That was

PERISHES AS FIRE DESTROYS 3-ROOM HOME

VICTIM HAD LIVED ALONE

Fire Chief Believes Oil Lamp Dropped by Woman Set Fire to Dwelling.

Fire of an undetermined origin which swept through a modest three-room cottage near the northwestern edge of the city last night claimed the life of 87-year-old Margaret Sams, 198 Reed street.

The seared and lifeless body of the woman was discovered by firemen just outside of the blazing dwelling when they arrived.

Fight Fire 3 Hours.

Firemen of companies No. 1 and No. 2, called by neighbors who were attracted by the flames shortly after 7 p. m., battled the fire for nearly three hours.

The firemen, under the direction of Capt. Paul Young of Company No. 1, laid two lines and played water on the building that was a blazing inferno when they arrived. They were unable to enter the house and were kept at a distance by the intense heat. Flames shot 50 feet above the cottage.

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger said he learned that oil lamps had been used in the home by Miss Sams. He said the fire probably was caused when the aged woman accidentally dropped or tipped over one of the burners.

Says Stove Not Cause.

Seeburger said it appeared that the lamp had been dropped and that kerosene splashed on Miss Sams clothing and ignited. He said he felt sure the coal stove used to heat the home was not the cause of the fire.

Miss Sams had made her way from house when the blaze started but was overcome by the fire which had enveloped her clothing. Her body was badly burned about the legs and arms.

Miss Sams came to Mansfield from Pennsylvania 59 years ago and had lived alone at the Reed street address for the past several years. She was born in Mercer county, Pa., Nov. 24, 1850. She never married.

Surviving are one brother, Benton Sams, 122 North Franklin avenue, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at the Wappner Funeral home at 10 a. m. Saturday with burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

Rush on for Best Seats For Midnight Yule Show

403 Want 8th, 9th or 10th Row, Where There's Only Room for 66—Got Yours? Better Hurry!

There was great activity on two fronts today in the campaign of the Three Muster-Cheers to see that needy families have plenty to eat on Christmas day.

Final rehearsals for the "Passing Parade of 1937," to be given Saturday midnight, were being planned by the cast, for one thing.

And the customers started a "run" on the Warner Brothers Ohio theater box office at noon today, when the reserved seat sale opened, and an hour later it looked as though the tickets had been mowed off with a machine gun.

Somehow or other—not that the Muster-Cheers have been bragging about it—the word has gotten around Mansfield that the "Passing Parade" is going to be a "wow," and tickets are in demand all over the city.

It's Good Omen.

Of course, that makes the Muster-Cheers feel pretty swell, and it will make a lot of other people feel the same way—people who will get Christmas baskets because Mansfielders are going to that all-star show.

One of the amusing (?) phases of the ticket reservation today was this:

By actual count 403 persons wanted to sit in the 8th, 9th or 10th row center, and the entire block only has 66 seats.

An hour after the sale started there was one lone ticket left in row 14 and one in row 16. More than 800 seat tickets were pulled within the first hour after the reserved board opened.

Still, the theater has more than 1,600 seats, and you can still get plenty of good seats, though they may not be in the eighth row on the aisle!

The box office at the Ohio theater will remain open from 12 noon to 10:15 p. m. every day through Saturday and until the hour of the show, 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

Dress rehearsals will be held tomorrow, with the two revue acts rehearsing at 9 a. m. and the "March of Time" at 11:15 at the Ohio theater.

The doors of the theater will be opened shortly before 11:15 p. m. Saturday and the show is scheduled to start at 12 midnight. As the opening and the overture from the stage will be one of the most attractive features of the show, patrons will be wise to be at the theater when the doors open.

FIRE FROM CARS

Bullets Fly, Bricks Hurled In Ford Plant Dispute.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(U.P.)— Shots were fired today from automobiles carrying workers to the Ford assembly plant in reply to barrages of bricks hurled at motor car caravans allegedly by members of or sympathizers with the United Automobile Workers who called a strike at the plant.

No one was reported hurt in the exchange of shots and bricks.

Police arrested six UAW men for questioning in the brick-hurling incidents and began an investigation of the shooting. The union men charged that Ford service workers, accompanying the employes as bodyguards, fired the shots.

CHILD KILLER ESCAPES CHAIR

Jury Orders Prison For Mother Who Killed Son With Spike.

EBENSBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Karmendi, 25, twice sentenced to die in the electric chair, escaped that fate today as the third jury to try her for the railroad spike slaying of a son returned a verdict of second degree murder.

Judge John McCann announced sentence would be imposed next Monday. The verdict carries a penalty of 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Congress Support Grows to Move For Spurring Business.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Strong support has developed in congress, a survey showed today, for resumption of government spending on a modified scale in an attempt to spur business activity.

Some anti-administration senators as well as some Roosevelt supporters said they believed new spending must start in January or February, but there was a difference of opinion as to whether it should be of the "pump priming" type.

Hitch-Hiker Admits Slaying of Grafton Girl.

ELYRIA—(AP)—Alexander Maneff, 21-year-old West Homestead, Pa., hitch-hiker, entered a plea of guilty today to first degree murder in the sex slaying of pretty Louise Hornbeck, 19, of nearby Grafton.

Common Pleas Judge D. A. Cook announced that three judges would hear evidence to determine the penalty, as provided under Ohio law.

"It is important that your side of the case be brought out beyond the record," Judge Cook said, "and under those conditions I am going to take full advantage of the law."

Maneff was arrested near Wooster several days after Miss Hornbeck's body was found near her home, Oct. 18.

SEAL REMINDER

Don't Forget to Buy Them, Put City Over, Smith Urges.

George H. Smith, city chairman of the Christmas Seal sale campaign issued a reminder to Mansfielders today—to get Christmas seals.

To-date, he said, the campaign has been going along at a brisk pace, but the quota hasn't been reached yet. In fact, it can't be unless everyone buys seals.

With a quota of $3,000 set this year, about $1,900 has been realized from the sale of the Seals thus far, leaving more than $1,000 yet to be raised.

If my chance anyone to whom Seals are usually mailed has failed to receive his, Smith suggests calling Seal headquarters, Canal 2262, and the stamps will be mailed out promptly.

250 At "Victory Banquet" As City Eulogizes Tyger Gridders

Climaxing one of the best seasons in Mansfield high school football history, nearly 250 business and industrial leaders, sports figures and grid fans paid tribute last night to the 1937 Tygers squad at The News-Journal annual "Victory banquet" at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Victory talk and the spirit of celebration was spread throughout the program. Except for a minute of silence in respect to Frank Fisch, former Mansfield high grid star who was killed in a plane crash in Texas last summer, there was story-telling and tribute talk indicating the city's appreciation for an outstanding squad.

It was purely a football party and the gridiron flavor was in everything right down to the program which were designed after the style of a football game.

From announcement of the lineup by Oscar Ruhl, News-Journal sports editor, to the post-mortems (the movies which concluded the three-hour program) there were quarters and plays that led to the "touchdown" by Wilbur F. (Pete) Henry, former Mansfield high grid star and All-America tackle at Washington and Jefferson university. Henry is now athletic director at Washington and Jefferson.

The "referee" was Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, who officiated at the meeting without using a whistle once and with-

PAY TRIBUTE TO VICTIMS

TOKYO —(AP)— The Japanese navy ministry announced today that a company of bluejackets would be detailed to honor the victims of the Panay bombing at the spot on the Yangtze river where they were killed.

The formal naval salute will be an unprecedented gesture which authorities said was the highest possible voluntary tribute of one nation to another.

(An American seaman and an Italian newspaperman were killed last Sunday when Japanese aerial bombers rained explosives on the Panay last Sunday about 20 miles up river from Nanking. The captain of a Standard Oil vessel which was nearby at the time also was killed)

Authoritative sources said the planned salute was not connected with the American protest against the attack.

The admiralty issued a statement reiterating Japanese regret over the incident, adding that the navy "has decided to detail a company of bluejackets to the spot to honor the dead"

It was announced also that sailors of the Japanese third fleet were collecting 5,000 yen ($1,450) to be contributed to the United States navy.

MICHIGAN OFFERS EXAMPLE OF POOR SPORTSMANSHIP

By BILL BRAUCHER

COLLEGES that prate of the high ideals of sportsmanship with which they try to imbue the young men studying within their ivied walls are offered a horrible example in the brutal firing of Harry Kipke as hear coach at University of Michigan.

Bill Braucher

Michigan stands out in the intercollegiate football world just now as a bum sport. And about the only quality that the Ann Arbor school has built into the characters of her hundreds of students (not to mention the football players) by kicking Kipke out is cold cynicism. If I were a student at Michigan I'd be very suspicious of my dear old alma mater.

Kipke himself, though, is in line for congratulations. He has escaped. The guy stood there and took the abuse like a man during the Wolverines' lean years, black years that followed a golden cycle of victory. Just as he was about to pull the football team into the sun again, the forces of political intrigue, jealousy and general meanness finally caught up with him. It is hard to put the finger on the parties directly responsible, but it is no secret they are entrenched at Michigan, and they have dragged the school back into the dark. Kipke is better off away from the shadows of doubt, clacking tongues, rumors and petty conniver. Unless there are drastic changes in athletic administration at Michigan, the man who succeeds Kipke is going to get the same kind of treatment.

The man who coaches football should have a free hand to run his business without political bonds obligating him to do this or that when some whim occurs to one of the scholarly supernumeraries in the act. Wisconsin had some pretty sad experiences along those lines. Politics at Madison wrecked just about everything, including the football team. But when Harry Stuhldreher took the job, he insisted that he was going to be his own quarterback and would not take signals from the faculty bench. Stuhldreher became absolute boss, and Wisconsin has been making happy progress ever since, finally reaching the point where the Badgers are beginning to win football games.

I don't mean to say that Athletic Director Fielding Yost should be unconditionally released. Yost is an institution at Ann Arbor. He has done a great deal for the school. He has shown inspiring devotion and loyalty to Michigan. But I think his authority in athletic matters should be limied to that of an enthusiastic spectator.

With no intention of casting disrespect at Mr. Yost, we offer the plain fact that divided houses do not stand, especially in football, where there are always a lot of old women hovering around the bench trying to quarterback the team. Above the coach there should be no authority whatever in te athletic department, so that if he coach chooses to tell some plutocratic prof to scram from the bench, he can do it without having to answer court-martial charges before a bevy of bewhiskered regents.

Kipke was treated most shabbily. He had no idea he was fired until someone called him up and asked him if he had another job in view. He was not offered a chance to resign, and not informed his tenure was uncertain. And when the press tried to reach Yost to find out what it was all about, it was discovered that the director had disappeared

It's a tough blow, but I'd say not for Kipke. Michigan really is taking the rap.

NCO OPENS THIS WEEK

Galion, Marion, and Ashland Scenes of Inaugural Games Friday.

The North Centrol Ohio basketball conference swings into action for the first time this season Friday night with three tilts on tap.

The Whippets of Shelby high invades Galion to meet the Orangemen. Shelby, which this season has one of the heaviest cage schedules ever attempted by an N. C. O. team, hopes to dispose of Galion and return to action at Shelby Saturday night against the Tygers of Mansfield high.

Other conference battles will see the Mt. Vernon Yellow Jackets tackling the touted Harding Presidents at Marion while Ashland, which last week eked out a thrilling one-point triumph over Norwalk, acts as hosts to the Bucyrus Redmen.

Marion, one of the pre-season favorites to annex the conference championship, will throw a veteran aggregation against the fast-stepping Jackets. The Presidents will enter the melee as slight favorites. Both clubs defeated Upper Sandusky, but Marion did a better job of it.

Not much is known concerning the personnel of the Redmen and Ashland. Both team will have inexperienced lineups which may develop into dangerous title contenders.

ASHLAND TO SEE FRASCELLA

WOOSTER — The College of Wooster basketball team will open the 1937-38 season at Ashland Thursday. Scot fans will watch with interest the scoring of Nick Frascella in this tilt.

In the past two seasons, Frascella has scored 591 points. He has made 245 field goals and 101 free throws. Against the Eagles he will have a chance to score his 250th field goal and his 600th point.

When Frascella was a sophomore at Wooster he scored 124 field goals and 48 free throws. As a junior last season, he scored one less point, getting 121 field goals and 53 free throws.

Frascella has played against Ashland four times to score 36 points. He made 33 field goals and 20 free throws.

Ralph Waite, Ashland guard, "held" Frascella in check here last season, in the early moments of the game. His methods soon sent the Eagle cager to the showers and Frascella finished the evening with eight baskets and five free throws for 21 points.

Frascella is expecting to renew acquaintances with Waite at Ashland.

Pick Stydaher As No. 1 Star

Pro Coaches Cast Most Votes For Tackle In Selection of All-Star Team.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The standout player of the 1937 National pro football league season wasn't Slingin' Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins, as the headlines and his game-winning tosses might have led the fans to believe, but Joe Stydahar, veteran tackle of the Chicago Bears.

That was the way the coaches of the ten league clubs figured, at least, when it came to casting their ballots for the all-league team. With votes counted on a basis of five points for first team selection and three for second-team, Stydahar received 43 points out of a possible 50.

Turk Edwards, the Washington bone-crusher, won the other tackle post with 40 points and Earl (Dutch) Clark of the Detroit Lions was chosen quarterback with the same point total, to share runner-up honors.

Baugh, who "pitched" the Redskins to victory over the Bears in last Sunday's playoff game and who gained 1,127 yards through the air to lead the league in that department, just did manage to make the team. He polled 21 points for a halfback berth to tie with Ernie Caddell of Detroit but nine points for quarterback gave Baugh the spot.

Cliff Battles, Baugh's teammate, and Clark Hinkle of the Green Bay Packers, a holdover from last year's all-star team, complete the backfield. The only other "freshman" to be chosen was Gaynell Tinsley, Chicago Cardinals' end. The real veterans are Clark, the oldest player at 31, and Mel Hein, New York Giants' center, who established a record by being chosen for the all-league team the fifth consecutive year.

VOTE FOR NEW CLASS

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The National Boxing association today announced that boxing commissioners, sports writers, promoters and managers had voted 67 to 1 in favor of establishment of a new boxing class at 185 to 190 pounds.

Stage Show at Madison.

Earl Taylor's musical stage production, "Revue Glorified," featuring a cast of 55, takes over the stage at the Madison theater starting Friday. The show will be presented also at a midnight performance at 11:30 Friday. The cast features Gordon Pennett, Broadway tenor; Ona Mayo, the Congo princess, Ray Taylor, and Leon and Diana, popular dance team. In addition to the stage presentation, the Madison offers the screen production, "Beg, Borrow or Steal," with Frank Morgan, Florence Rice and John Beal. The story concerns an American tourist guide who has to promote a chateau for the wedding of his daughter to carry out a bluff. His daughter and her fiance arrive and then the fun begins.

Play Historical Roles.

Greta Garbo as the Polish countess, Marie Walewska, and Charles Boyer as Napoleon Bonaparte bring to the screen of the Ohio theater a vivid picture of the struggle the emperor had in his efforts to conquer the world. The story itself traces the effort of Poland to enlist Napoleon's aid in their difficulties with Russia. When on a visit to Poland the Corsican becomes infatuated with the young Countess. Polish statesmen entreat her to use her influence with Napoleon in order to guarante his help. She encourages his advances and falls in love with him. The balance of the film deals with their romantic adventures.

"Old Wyoming Trail."

Charles Starrett in the western feature, "The Old Wyoming Trail," comes to the Majestic theater Friday for two days. The story follows the adventures of a cowboy who becomes involved in a range war in an effort to prevent an honest rancher from losing his land to a scheming crook and his henchmen. Starrett is supported by Barbara Weeks and Donald Grayson. Patricia Farr and Scott Colton in "All American Sweetheart," completes the feature attraction. The theater is host to the Kiddies' show Saturday which is usually held at the Madison. It has been transferred this week because of the stage show at the Madison. Chapter No. 12 of the serial, "Painted Stallion," will be shown.

* * *

"Blonde Trouble."

Eleanore Whitney and Johnny Downs head the cast of "Blonde Trouble," opening at the Ritz theater Friday. The film is the tale of a young song-writer about to be "taken" by a gold-digger who imagines that he has plenty of money and a rosy future. But suddenly he drops to the bottom, and is without a friend. The second film on the twin bill program will be the Hopalong Cassidy picture," with William Boyd, George Hayes and Jimmy Ellison. The picture casts Boyd as an undercover man for the Texas Rangers.

SHULTZ RETIRES AFTER 52 YEARS

Pennsylvania Freight Agent Closes Long Railroad Career Dec. 31.

in 1932 when I was confined to the hospital for two months. But now I am going to lay the worries aside and rest and enjoy life."

And that will mean that Shultz will have 30 years of pleasure for he hopes "to live to the ripe old age of 100."

"One runs up against some bad bumps in this old world," he said, "but as a whole it has treated me kindly, and I want to live just as long as I can, and that's at least a 100."

He advanced from messenger to agent by hard labor and the desire to "learn the other fellow's job," he says.

Has Advice For Youth.

"The reason that young men today don't make advancements is that they have become clock watchers, and don't take enough interest in their jobs."

He pointed out that in those early days when he was a messenger and later when he became a telegraph operator and clerk, he spent at least 12 hours a day on the job, and Sundays, too—not only doing his own work, but gleaning knowledge from the other fellow - about phases of the business which he knew nothing about.

It all began on that first job as a $10 a month messenger. He was hired with the privilege of learning to become an operator. He took such interest in learning to do the other fellow's work that one year later he was made an operator, and for two years worked at various stations between Crestline and Pittsburgh.

In 1888 he was transferred to North Lawerence in Stary county as operator-clerk at $45 a month. It was while in North Lawerence that he met and married his wife. He was 20 years old at the time.

"Imagine a fellow getting married on those wages today," he said. "But that was when even the young people didn't have to keep such a fast pace. We didn't have places to go and the things to do that we have now."

Shultz received his first appointment as freight agent in 1897, when the company sent him to Dixmont, Pa., near Pittsburgh. He was later sent to Freedom, Pa., and then back to Crestline. He was made joint freight agent and ticket agent for the Pennsylvania and the Big Four railroads in 1918.

One year later he was made freight agent at Mansfield, the position from which he will retire Dec. 31, when he turns his office over to his successor, J. E. Young, who comes here from Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultz, who live at 82 Parkwood boulevard, have one son who is married and lives in Sunbury, Pa. He is assistant trainmaster for the Pennsylvania railroad.

KIN OF BOONE WILL RESTORE HISTORIC HOME

Frontiersman Spent Last Days in Stone House Owned By Brother In Missouri.

ST CHARLES, Mo.—(AP)—The house in which Daniel Boone died is to be restored to its original appearance.

Col. Francis Marion Curlee, of St. Louis, a direct descendant of Boone's brother, John, is the present owner. The stone house, which changed hands many times, was bought in 1904 by a farmer, Henry Bollman. Bollman sold it to Col. Curlee in 1925.

Boone's youngest son, Major Nathan Boone, built the house in 1810, taking almost two years to complete the job because the plaster had to be buried during the winter to "ripen." All cutting and finishing was done with an adze.

The walls are two and a half feet thick. Their extraordinary thickness makes the house warm in winter and cool in summer.

Most of the furnishings installed by Col. Curlee are reproductions, some originals, of the pioneer's period.

Windsor Chairs Authentic.

The dining room, which is in the basement, is one of the most interesting rooms in the house. The sunlight enters from the south on a room with a ceiling of huge timbers, native brick floor and sparse furnishings—authentic Windsor chairs, table and an old-fashioned sideboard.

Over the fireplace hangs a Kentucky long rifle. The five-foot-long rifle has a sharply curved, short stock fashioned to be fired from the elbow, not the shoulder.

Besides the living room, which extends the breadth of the house along the east side, there are two other chambers on the first floor.

Three rooms on the second floor are divided by a hall which has been converted into a library with some 3,000 books. There are many volumes on Boone and a quaint collection of old books on the code of dueling.

Misfortune in Kentucky.

The pleasant old home might never have sheltered the great woodsman but for the misfortune that caused him to leave Kentucky. When Kentucky became a state in 1791 Boone did not file legal claim to the land he held there. Land operators forced him to relinquish his holdings through civil courts and the improverished pioneer had to strike out in search for a new home for the fourth time in his career.

Boone returned to the scene of his childhood, but left because of the change worked by the swift advance of civilization. After a short visit, the woodsman and his family started a 800-mile trek to the mouth of the Kanawha river, which empties into the Ohio at Point Pleasant. Here he built a log hut and remained until 1795.

During his sojourn at the Point, hunters who visited Boone fired him with dreams of a new land to explore beyond the Mississippi. Boone again struck out for a new home.

The Spanish government, then in possession of the territory, and eager to settle the land, welcomed emigrants. Boone's fame preceded him and he was accorded a warm reception.

STREET 'DATED'

Tulsa Officer Finds Coin 'Planted' During Construction.

TULSA, Okla.—(INS)—At least one section of this city's streets had been found "dated."

While workmen were tearing out a stretch preparatory to repaving it, traffic officer Ned Fanning, noticed a green spot in the asphalt. He dug it out with his pocket knife and found it was a 1919 nickel.

Street Superintendent John Boyd told the officer that was the year the paving was laid.

SAFETY RECORD CHALKED UP BY NEW 'FRISCO BAY BRIDGE

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—The San Francisco - Oakland Bay bridge, the aerial arch of steel and concrete 200 feet above the waters of San Francisco bay, is one of the safest highways in the United States, a report revealed today.

The bridge was one year old at noon, Nov. 13. A review of the first 12 months' traffic over the span showed that out of a total of 9,022,099 vehicles crossing the bridge from the opening day, there have been only 24 accidents involving personal injury; and out of about 20,000,000 persons traveling over the bridge there have been but 69 injured.

Twenty-two accidents involving property damage only, bring the total number of accidents to 56, the report showed. There have been four fatal accidents on the four and one-half miles comprising the actual span.

Figures comparing this record with that of the nation as a whole and of California, showed that on the bridge there were 860,000 car miles per accident, as against 262,500 car miles per accident for the entire nation, and 475,500 for California.

There were 15,500,000 car miles per fatal accident on the bridge, compared with the record of the nation, less than half as good, of 6,760,000 car miles.

The bridge has a six-lane highway, patroled by a large patrol of state highway motorcycle policemen. The speed limit is 45 miles an hour.

The United States imports as much coffee as all other countries of the world combined.

8 Pilots Draw Suspensions Under Federal Ruling.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—The bureau of air commerce has suspended licenses of eight pilots, four of which were held by transport fliers.

None of the suspended aviators was employed by commercial airlines.

Suspended transport pilots are Marion Pharr, Shreveport, La.; Joseph C. Mackey, Findlay, O., and Robert A. Trennert, Los Angeles, for assertedly performing aerobatics over prohibited areas, and R. Leland Fullerton, Pomona, Calif., for releasing a football while his plane was in flight.

SAFETY RECORD CHALKED UP BY NEW 'FRISCO BAY BRIDGE

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—The San Francisco - Oakland Bay bridge, the aerial arch of steel and concrete 200 feet above the waters of San Francisco bay, is one of the safest highways in the United States, a report revealed today.

The bridge was one year old at noon, Nov. 12. A review of the first 12 months' traffic over the span showed that out of a total of 9,023,099 vehicles crossing the bridge from the opening day, there have been only 34 accidents involving personal injury; and out of about 20,000,000 persons traveling over the bridge there have been but 69 injured.

Twenty-two accidents involving property damage only, bring the total number of accidents to 56, the report showed. There have been four fatal accidents on the four and one-half miles comprising the actual span.

Figures comparing this record with that of the nation as a whole and of California, showed that on the bridge there were 360,000 car miles per accident, as against 262,500 car miles per accident for the entire nation, and 478,500 for California.

There were 15,500,000 car miles per fatal accident on the bridge, compared with the record of the nation, less than half as good, of 6,760,000 car miles.

The bridge has a six-lane highway, patroled by a large patrol of state highway motorcycle policemen. The speed limit is 45 miles an hour.

The United States imports as much coffee as all other countries of the world combined.

8 Pilots Draw Suspensions Under Federal Ruling.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—The bureau of air commerce has suspended licenses of eight pilots, four of which were held by transport fliers.

None of the suspended aviators was employed by commercial airlines.

Suspended transport pilots are Marion Pharr, Shreveport, La.; Joseph C. Mackey, Findlay, O., and Robert A. Trennert, Los Angeles, for assertedly performing aerobatics over prohibited areas, and R. Leland Fullerton, Pomona, Calif., for releasing a football while his plane was in flight.

RECEIPTS FALL

Muny Court's November Income $400 Under October.

Municipal court receipts totalled $1,417.28 for November, more than $400 below the revenue collected in October, the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer, deputy clerk, showed today.

Part of the decrease was attributed to the drop in traffic forfeitures in the past month. Revenues collected from fines and costs in state cases also were under October.

From the total receipts, the city's general fund will be increased by $1,193, while $323.80 will be distributed to the state, county and law library. The city's share was derived from $838.67 in fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal cases and $354.81 collected as costs in civil cases.

DEER BASIS OF SUITS

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — (U.P.) — Here's a new one in accidents and damage claims. A deer collided with an automobile driven by Q. L. Jaeger of Southgate, Cal., near Evanston, Wyo. The deer was killed and Jaeger's car was damaged. Jaeger sent the state game department a bill for $59.63, the cost of repairing his car.

WOMAN LEAVES $15,000 IN WILL

Cash Bequests of Miss Emma Nail Include $3,000 to Central M. E. Church.

Cash bequests totaling more than $15,000, including $3,000 to the Central M. E. church and $500 each to the Mansfield Y. W. C. A., Salvation Army and the Friendly House, are made in the will of Miss Emma B. Nail, late of Mansfield, which was filed yesterday in probate court. Miss Nail, sister of E. S. Nail, chairman of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company, died Nov. 11.

Under provisions of the will, the Elyria Home for the Aged will receive $500; the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Central M. E. church, Mansfield, $500 each and the Ohio Methodist Children's Home association, $600.

Personal bequests were made to Mabel Dawson, a niece, who will receive $3,000; William Dawson, a nephew, $2,000; William Nail, Shelby, a nephew, $2,000; Charles Nail and Dorothy Nail, children of William Nail, $1,000 each and Miss Cora McFarland, Mansfield, $500.

The will nominates the Farmers Savings and Trust company as executor and specifies that the $3,000 bequest to the Central M. E. church shall be held in trust, with the church to receive the income in quarterly payments.

A request also is made that the executor hold the $1,000 bequests to Charles Nail and Dorothy Nail in trust until the benefactors are 21 years old.

For Double-Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Better Than Ready-Made Medicines. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, but for real results, it is still the best thing ever known for coughs that start from colds. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of actually better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And there is positively nothing like it for quick action. You can feel it take hold instantly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages. No cough remedy, at any price, could be more effective.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1937.

Japan's slogan appears to be: "If you see what you want grab for it."

Again comes the season for annual reading of Charles Dickens' Christmas Carol.

There may be no truth in the report that Charley McCarthy is considering cutting loose from Edgar Bergen—but the suggestion might give John L. Lewis something to think about.

Less Relief Cheating.

RELIEF "chiseling" is probably not so bad today as many critics think. In one big industrial city, with a huge relief list, a check-up has just been made covering 20,000 cases. The work was done by a national credit company which regularly serves business concerns and employs carefully trained investigators. The job cost $28,000. The probers, after long and careful inquiry, sifted out 400 relief beneficiaries clearly shown to be cheating, and those cases were promptly discontinued, at a saving of $24,000. The chiselers numbered 2 per cent.

There was a slight loss, as anyone can see, on that operation. It would not pay to make such a special investigation to weed out a smaller percentage. So from now on, the relief organization involved plans to depend on its regular procedure. Like most public relief organizations, it has now developed a system which makes it much harder than it used to be for applicants not needing relief to get away with it.

As the public grows aware of these more effective methods of investigation and check-up, fewer people try to fool the investigators.

Golden Anniversary of Travelers' Club.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Travelers' club, which this week celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its organization.

Organized in 1887 by a group of Mansfield women interested in "study and conversation about travel, literature, art and current events," the Travelers' club has not only given impetus to world study but has also furnished inspiration for much of the travel that has been done by Mansfield people, many of whom had their interest in American and foreign travel aroused, either directly or indirectly, through the activities of this club.

Bringing of William F. McDermott, writer and world traveler, to Mansfield on the occasion of the club's golden anniversary, was a happy thought, as a large group was thus enabled to gain a much clearer idea of conditions existing in various European countries than would have otherwise been possible.

Much that has been beneficial to Mansfield and its community life is attributable to various of the women's study clubs in this city. To have thus served in its community during a half century is an accomplishment worthy of recognition.

Constructive Punishment.

AN UNUSUAL arrangement has been proposed between the mother of a slain 19-year-old boy and the 46-year-old man who killed him. The tragedy occurred in a beer parlor when the older man fancied the younger one was trying to outstare him. Enraged, he seized a knife and fatally cut the boy.

When the killer was arraigned on a charge of second-degree murder the judge was asked to let him plead guilty to manslaughter because the victim's mother had said she would rather have the man contribute to her support than go to prison. If the judge and other authorities concerned approve the plan, the man will pay $50 a month to the mother for five years.

There are several "ifs" in this plan as outlined. First, its success depends upon the man's continued profitable employment at his present job or some other job. He will also have to watch his actions in beer parlors.

It is hoped, however, that the plan will work out. The offender apparently has not been involved in crime before and will not be again if his drinking is curbed. It is clearly better for him to be actively at work and making some amends for his offense than to be demoralized by imprisonment and idleness.

Lost Health Habits.

THE physical education department at Cornell university reports some recent observations which probably could be duplicated elsewhere. According to the annual report of the medical adviser, the health habits of young men entering the freshman class are very much better than those of freshmen a few years ago. High school health education work is given full credit for the fact that boys today have good habits of sleep, exercise, cleanliness, and diet.

The next phase of the report is not so good. These healthy and sensible youngsters soon begin to slump. Through the three succeeding college years they grow progressively more careless about health essentials. They exercise less, sleep less, smoke more, have more dental trouble, and so on.

It is much the same with men of like age who do not go to college. High school training gives them knowledge and sets up the health habits which would keep them in good condition most of their lives, if followed. But indifference, laziness or absorption in the race for material success undermines the good habits and opens the way for the physical ailments of middle age.

World Raw Materials Plan.

THE League of Nations Economic Committee, wrestling with the problem of distributing raw materials, ended its forty-seventh session with these suggestions:

That raw materials should be exported more freely and made available for all countries alike; that foreigners should be as free as nationals in developing natural resources anywhere; that international regulations should have full publicity and give consumers a fair deal.

There is little likelihood of the plan's immediate adoption. The league has learned before now that it can lead the nations to a plan but it can't make them adopt it, or live up to it.

JAPAN MAKES ITS OWN RULES

Congress Cold To Holding Company Appeals

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Letters to senators and representatives from their constituents who happen to own securities in electrical companies reveal a curious lack of understanding of how the lawmaking machine in Washington functions. What these investors want their congressmen to do, of course, is something to help their own corporations. They want specifically four things:

1. Repeal of the public utility holding company death sentence, or at least sharp modification of it so as to eliminate only the intermediate corporations.

2. Provision that any "yardstick" operations by which the government seeks to "show up" the privately owned companies shall be sharply circumscribed by conditions as to accounting, inclusion of pro rata taxes both federal and local, and inclusion of an equitable allowance for interest on the governments investment and for amortization of the cost, etc.

3. No further loans or grants to local communities to set up government ownership electric projects.

4. Clear policy on all existing federal power projects or others under construction that the current will be sold, at the switchboard, to the highest bidder.

* * *

NOW there is probably a strong enough sentiment in both House and Senate for all four of those things to put them through—IF—they could be gotten to a vote in each house, and if Congress believed President Roosevelt would sign the measures if enacted.

But there is no such assurance. On the contrary, most congressmen believe positively that the President would veto any one of the four proposals that Congress might enact. And there is no disposition on the party of the senators and representatives to undertake such a thankless job as to push such measures through only to have them killed by a veto—especially as no one thinks there would be a Chinaman's chance of mustering the two-thirds majority in both House and Senate that would be necessary to override a veto. In the first place, there is doubt if two-thirds, majorities could be rolled up even if there were no pressure from the White House against rolling them up, or from Jim Farley's machine. And there is no doubt on Capitol Hill that this pressure would be applied, and that it would be very potent.

Besides, there is no particular nutriment, politically, in doing battle for the utilities. There are many stockholders who would be pleased, but it is not the kind of fight that rouses popular enthusiasm. In the present state of the public mind, congressmen say frankly that they do not believe making such a fight would entail any particular danger. It would be down the same alley as changing the tax laws to give corporations more voice in their own management, which Congress proposes to do despite the President's opposition.

* * *

BUT the best thing they would get out of it would be very small, politically. Whereas it would incur the enmity of the White House, mess up their patronage situations, and start the radicals singling them out as Tories. All this might be risked, many of them say, if the fight could accomplish anything.

But the security holders writing letters do not seem to realize the difference between stopping a new thing in Congress, and repealing an old one. Or, in brief, the difficulty that overriding a veto adds to any congressional fight.

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON—

Which One of Yourselves Are You Going to Be?

IT ISN'T so much a question of WHAT you're going to be in life, as of WHICH you're going to be.

There are so many YOUS! So many Selves within the one body, each with its different ability and desire.

If you're a woman, there's first that Self which everyone expects to find in a woman. That Self which follows the conventional program laid down for women—loving wife, tender mother, happy home-maker.

But there's also another Self, unknown to the world and most disconcerting to the humdrum side of your own nature . . . a restless, reckless, ADVENTURING Self.

You never know what to do with this Adventuring Self. At times you're proud of it, amused by it. But you're afraid of it, too. There's no telling what it will do next. It's apt to pop up at the most inopportune times and raise Cain with your prudent, precise plan of living. Then whatta mess!

There's an old poem which begins—"Every woman is a wild, free thing, deep inside." You've painful reasons for knowing that is true. Times when that secret Self burst loose . . . took control . . . landed you, perhaps, in tragedy. If people had only understood — but they didn't even try.

For society demands that women stay put, for the sake of its helpless children, its homes. And so there's little excuse or sympathy for the woman who runs amuck. As you learned to your grief!

Or you may have still another Self . . . a Self that rebels bitterly against the house-keeping rut, and its round of seemingly trivial chores . . . that longs, as frantically as a man would, "to do something worth while"—run a business, practice some interesting craft. Oh, for the bracing, impersonal routine of an office . . . the challenge of a scientific laboratory or a reporter's job! If only you had chosen something beside the "dullness of marriage!" What lonely, regretful hours you spend thinking of the Might-Have-Beens . . . what tears of self pity!

If you're a man, you may not weep openly, but you're just as sorry for yourself . . . just as bitter when you think of your lost opportunities. What a rotten shame it was that you couldn't have gone into engineering, as you wished . . . or architecture . . . or been a big game hunter. There's something in you that tells you you could have been a success in any of these ventures. But the Old Man wanted you to go on with the business, and so—

Our other Selves . . . what mischief they make unless we understand them—get them under control! That's our No. 1 job in adolescence . . . when those Secret Selves plague us most viciously, and we're sure we are Lone Sufferers.

Remember how excited you were when you first read "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—felt at last you had found the key to your special and unique mystery? But your surplus Selves aren't unique—we all have them. From the dumbest ditch-digger to the snootiest aesthete, we're all packages of mixed personalities, confused and contradictory. So what?

Stop thinking you're different . . . cut out the conceit and self-pity! Admit your many Selves—

AND DECIDE WHICH ONE YOU WILL BE.

Don't kid yourself, as you do so, that you'll ever be 100 per cent satisfied with the Self you choose. Prepare yourself for many a bitter backward glance. But buck up and keep going! Remember that you would have been equally regretful if you had chosen some other Self. That's the way we're made—and thank God for it! Yes, those other Selves may plague you—

But they'll also enrich your life and make you an infinitely more colorful, powerful and understanding human being—if you'll learn how to run them, instead of letting them run you.

Danger of Stealing Rides.

Not all who steal rides on trains are of the hobo variety, for there often are freight riders who actually are looking for jobs, or who, for one reason or another, are legitimately seeking to reach destinations through practicing illegitimate ways.

But it always has been true that most of those who "ride the rods" belong to the hobo class, and it is illegal for any person, whatever his reason or excuse, to try to get free transportation. The hobo knows this, and he also has learned from bitter experience that often he is kicked off the train by a brakeman, or taken to jail on his arrival in some city or other by railroad detectives or city police.

The railroads have always been alert in attempts to discourage these free rides, but they have now taken on a new method and are making a new appeal. It is the safety argument. For, during the first half of this year, according to reports just coming out, 836 trespassers lost their lives and 937 were injured, though 80,000 fewer persons were ejected from trains during this period as compared with the same period a year ago. The appeal, therefore, probably is having its effect. — Ohio State Journal.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

FRANK CROWNINSHIELD, who knows his social onions, sighs in a recent magazine vignette over the vanishing men about town. The socia horizon is no longer dotted with those gallant blades who gave such a zest to the 90's. Elegantes who knew manners, wines and ladies.

Men, indeed, such as Ward McAllister, Herman Oelrichs, Oliver H. P. Belmont, C Oliver Iselin, Stanford White, Sydney Smith, W. K. Vanderbilt and Reginald Rives. All creatures of wealth who rode to hounds, were deft at coaching, yachting and accomplished wits of the club lounge. There were 100 of them.

Today, Crowninshield finds that "man about town" means a fellow of entirely different kidney. He is something of a rounder, with no particular social graces or family background. Often he is celebrated for his candid camera shots and bowing acquaintance with ladies of the floor show.

Once the label "man about town" was a high compliment, denoting qualities and talents above the average. Now, says Crowninshield, the m. a. t. is more than likely to be the parvenue who wears the wrong clothes, orders the wrong dinners for the wrong women in the wrong French.

Joe Zilch and George Spelvin are two citizens peculiar to New York, living in imagination only. Spelvin, as every theater-goer knows, is the program name for the actor who plays two roles. Spelvin being his listing for the second. The genealogy of Joe Zilch is doubtful, but he symbolizes the fellow who does not mean much in the scheme of things. Sime of Variety was the first person I ever heard speak of Zilch, although I'm not certain he was the originator. A captious hamburger stand near Jack Dempsey's is proprietored by Zilch and Spelvin. At least those are the names over the entrance.

When meat prices went ballooning recently Frank Case listed on his menu: "Sirloin for two $2.50—and not worth the price." Several eating places displayed similar typed taunts. But the New York idea reared its head and people who never cared much for steaks began to go for them in a big way. I recall interviewing George Arliss at breakfast many years ago in a Cincinnati dining room making way with a chuck of grilled steak. I noticed the menu priced the steak at 45 cents, which awed me almost as much as the fixity of the actor's rimless monocle.

Governor Herbert Lehman, perhaps next to Charles G. Dawes, is the most confirmed of the political pipe smokers. When out doors his goose-necked pipe suggests the Natchez rounding the bend full speed ahead. His longest session of puffing perhaps was during the legionnaire parade, when he stood or sat in the reviewing stand for 15 hours, using up tins of tobacco and 10 boxes of matches.

Burgess Meredith has become the theater's prize bloom—histrionically and socially. A tousled redhead with the face of a Bellows prize-fighter, his clothes fit him somewhat in the manner of the Sunday suit of a stevedore. Although he is married to an actress of social prominence, he is the chief romantic interest among many of the sighing maids who customarily go blah over the profile of Robert Taylor or the figure of Gary Cooper. But Meredith is immune to the feminine blandishments. He is wholly absorbed in his art. One does not attain stardom at his age without such consecration to study.

Thingumbobs: Almondbury in Yorkshire is pronounced Ooombree . . . George White and Ann Pennington, once a Broadway romance, always try to dine together on the anniversary of their first meeting . . . Montagu Love, of the movies, is a crack pen-and-ink artist . . . Lee Olwell was to cicerone the Duke and Duchess of Windsor about for the Art Kudner agency, had they made the trip . . . Henry Fonda is regarded as the best horseman among leading men.

They were recalling embarrassing moments. The silliest for me was on a Texas ranch when a cowboy drew up alongside a flivver in which Bill Hogg and I were driving. Hogg had been riding me all day about a straw hat with a spectrum-smashing band I was wearing. He thought it sissified. After talking to the cowboy awhile he nodded toward me and grumped: "Meet my niece."

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL—

Large Tax Concessions Outlined.

LARGE TAX concessions to business have been agreed on by President Roosevelt and the Democratic leadership in the house. The Wall Street Journal is believed to have the exact formula, and here it is:

"The most important tax law changes agreed upon thus far by the Vinson subcommittee would exempt all corporations with $25,000 or less net income from the undistributed profits tax, and would retain only the bare principle of the undistributed earnings levy for larger companies. The rates for corporations above the $25,000 income level would range from 16 per cent to 20 per cent, depending on the percentage of earnings retained. The maximum penalty for full retention of earnings would be therefore, only about 4 per cent.

"The subcommittee has already proposed changes in the capital gains tax which would cut down on the taxability of capital gains resulting from the sale of assets held more than one year. It has also agreed to a special maximum capital gains tax rate which would be of especial benefit to taxpayers above the 40 per cent income tax brackets."

* * *

ON THE OTHER HAND

Now, to balance your reading scale, and before throwing brickbats at us, read this from the New Republic:

"It is well to remember that we have had the capital-gains tax with us for many years—that it has been a regular part of the income tax system and has not prevented previous revivals. The first time it was called dramatically to public attention was when an investigation revealed that J. P. Morgan had paid no income tax for 1931 and 1932, his capital losses, which the law then allowed to be used as an offset, having more than canceled his taxable net income. Certain revisions were thereafter made in the tax to limit the use of losses in just this way. But from the present outcry against it, one might think that the tax was a New Deal measure, invented by Mr. Roosevelt's brain trusters to ruin the country. . . . .

"The tax . . . is necessary to tap the incomes of those whose chief business is buying and selling stock or gambling in other forms of capital. Such people may receive salaries or dividends, but they depend much less on the yield of their holdings than they do on the speculative gains they may acquire through shifting of capital values. If there were no tax on capital gains, such speculators would have an unfair advantage in comparison with those who buy and sell groceries or shoes or other ordinary commodities, although they perform a less useful service—if, indeed, the net result of their activities is serviceable at all.

"The present agitation against the tax probably derives most of its fervor from a relatively small group of highly interested persons. These persons accumulated securities at the low levels of the depression. They have been holding their stocks to sell at the higher prices of prosperity. (The present market slump, they know, will not last forever.) It is estimated by some close observers that there are several thousands of millions of dollars of speculative profits to be collected when the sales are made. If the capital-gains tax can only be repealed before the holdings are sold, the men who had resources enough to profit in this way can make an immensely larger killing, and the tax receipts of the government will be correspondingly reduced. It is merely a question whether the government gets the tax money or they do. Such an interest can stimulate a lot of propaganda and influence many congressmen."

* * *

WHAT NEXT?

Now, what next to get us out of the recession?

The mass of voters are not primarily concerned with lowering the capital gains' tax nor even the undistributed profits' tax, no matter how beneficial that may be.

Use of social security funds in a vast governmental housing program is urged by an increasing group.

But that would take some time to get under way. And every possible legal obstacle would be put into its path by real estate interests.

What other plan, then, is there? None, so far—other than restoring "confidence" to private industry. That, also, is too slow. Several million people could starve to death waiting for that.

The answer may be guessed at. The WPA will be increased gradually, then very sharply.

The president may well wonder where he has erred. Probably in reducing expenditures too suddenly.

SCHOOLS FACE GENERAL CURB ON FLAG RULE

California Tribunal Joins Federal Court Against Enforced Salute.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. —(U.P.)— Another case in the series which from time to time has upset educational circles throughout the country, wherein children are expelled for refusal to salutte the United States flag on religious grounds, has been decided here by the third district court of appeal.

The court, to which Sacramento board of education officials appealed from an adverse decision in the county superior court, ruled that Charlotte Gabrelli, 10-year-old pupil in an elementary school, does not have to salute the flag.

Charlotte, with her father, is a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious denomination whose tenets forbid pledges of allegiance to any other power than that of God.

Child Stood Mute.

The child was expelled after she stood passive while her classmates saluted the flag and repeated the oath of allegiance, a custom followed in most of this city's schools.

In affirming the trial court's verdict, which upheld a writ of mandate ordering the girl's readmission to school, the appellate court said:

"No questions of morality, disobedience or improper conduct were involved, but only a single question of standing mute while other pupils saluted the flag and repeated the oath of allegiance."

The board of education, the court further held, acted in an arbitrary fashion in expelling the girl.

A unanimous decision of three justices set forth a "conscientious conviction" to which the girl was fully entitled under the state and federal constitutions, prevented her from saluting the flag.

An additional point was the defense attorney's contention, sustained by the court, that no specific legislative enactment compelled the action; it merely had gained the force of law through custom, he said.

Not Religious Ceremony.

The opinion agreed with the school board that saluting the flag is not a religious ceremony. They were in accord with decisions of Massachusetts, Georgia and New Jersey on this issue. In each of these states pupils have been expelled under the same circumstances.

The California court pointed out, however, that in all these states, the flag salute was mandatory under legislative enactment.

Jehovah's Witnesses rely heavily on several passages from the Bible, including the third verse, 20th chapter of Exodus (Thou shalt have no other gods before Me), in support of their contention that their objection to the flag salute is based solely on religious scruples.

BRIGHT NOTE

Roper Says Inventories Are Being Rapidly Absorbed.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper has said that there was evidence that industrial production is running below actual need of supplies.

Inventories, or stocks of goods on hand, the secretary added, are rapidly being absorbed.

The secretary indicated that he regarded these factors as bright spots in the burrent business picture and indicated tht he expected industrial production to increase.

As for Christmas trade, the secretary said that information he has received in recent days has led him to believe that it would run approximately the same as last Christmas.

PAY TRIBUTE TO VICTIMS

TOKYO —(AP)— The Japanese navy ministry announced today that a company of bluejackets would be detailed to honor the victims of the Panay bombing at the spot on the Yangtze river where they were killed

The formal naval salute will be an unprecedented gesture which authorities said was the highest possible voluntary tribute of one nation to another.

(An American seaman and an Italian newspaperman were killed last Sunday when Japanese aerial bombers rained explosives on the Panay last Sunday about 20 miles up river from Nanking. The captain of a Standard Oil vessel which was nearby at the time also was killed)

Authoritative sources said the planned salute was not connected with the American protest against the attack.

The admiralty issued a statement reiterating Japanese regret over the incident, adding that the navy "has decided to detail a company of bluejackets to the spot to honor the dead."

It was announced also that sailors of the Japanese third fleet were collecting 5,000 yen ($1 450) to be contributed to the United States navy.

ACID SOLUTION PROLONGS CUT FLOWERS' LIFE

Chemist in Hawaii Discovers Six Per Cent Sulphurous Mixture Best.

HONOLULU — (U.P.) — The century-old problem of how to make cut flowers last the longest possible time is being solved in the research laboratories of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association here, it is announced.

The new method just developed consists of adding a few drops of sulphurous acid to the water in which the flowers are kept. It will prolong freshness of some large stemmed varieties up to four and five days, tests disclosed.

Results are declared to exceed greatly those obtained by the use of warm water and aspirin.

The formula as concocted by the research laboratory provides for two ordinary sized eye-droppers full of acid to each pint of water for large flowers like hydrangeas, chrysanthemums, lilies and gladioas, or one eye dropper full to the pint for small blooms having tender, delicate stems. The cost is about one-half cent to a pint of water.

Acids Not to Be Confused.

Flower lovers, however, are urged to be careful to get sulphurous acid and not sulphuric acid, as the latter is deadly to plants.

The laboratory experiments have demonstrated that the more marked effects are obtained with large stemmed plants, presumably because they have a larger amount of natural reserve vitality on which the formula can react than in the case of smaller flowers.

Hydrangeas were kept four to five days longer with the solution than with ordinary water. Flowers blooming for only one day in the garden were not benefited by the solution, but blooms which stay on growing plants a longer time, usually fading quickly when cut, were prolonged successfully.

6 Per Cent Solution Best.

Chief credit for the discovery goes to Dr. U. K. Das of Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association chemists. He found that a 6 per cent solution of sulphurous acid proved the ideal mixture to keep down bacterial action which usually causes flowers to die.

Only glass or porcelain vases can be used as the solution harms silver or other metals.

The acid gives the flowers a great thirst, causing them to consume five times more water.

Dr. Das developed the solution in attempting to find a method of keeping alive sugar cane tassels during the "breeding" period. He found the experiment worked not only with cane but garden flowers as well.

'Foreign Elements' Blamed In Plot to Kill Franco

NATIONALISTS ACT TO FOIL 'CONSPIRACY'

London Hears Plan to Attack Fascists Led to Closing of Spanish Frontiers.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Reports were published here today that the closing of frontiers by Spanish nationalist authorities had been due to a "vast conspiracy by foreign elements" to attack the nationalists and assassinate Generalissimo Francisco Franco, their leader.

Both the Exchange Telegraph and the Daily Mail received the report from their Lisbon correspondents. There were no details and no explanation of the manner in which "foreign" elements might attack nationalist territory which borders on France and Portugal. But it was evident that something was happening in Spain that might again make the Spanish civil war a matter for world interest.

Reports Closing.

The United Press correspondent at Lisbon reported yesterday the publication by Lisbon newspapers of a statement that Spanish nationalist authorities had ordered the entire Spanish-Portuguese frontier closed, effective Tuesday. The correspondent added that the frontier at Badajoz, midway between the Bay of Biscay and the Mediterranean, would be reopened next Monday.

The nationalist frontier bordering on France has been closed since last week. But Portugal is regarded here as frankly favoring the nationalists and hence the closure of the Spanish-Portuguese frontier was a development of more significance.

The frontier between nationalist Spain and British Gibraltar was closed to all traffic today and heavy insurgent troop movements in the vicinity of Malaga were reported. A Malaga newspaper had said that the loyalists planned a major offensive on the city from the vicinity of Almeria, on the southeastern coast.

Dispatches Forbidden.

There has been no dispatch from United Press correspondents in nationalist territory since last Friday—six days. They did not even reply to frequent telegraphic inquiries sent them by the United Press through London and Paris. Hence it was indicated that the nationalists were forbidding news of every sort and were suppressing even private messages.

Late last night, however, messages began arriving from loyalist Spain telling of a new offensive in the east, not by the nationalists but by the loyalists.

"It is announced officially that the (loyalist) government is successfully attacking on the Teruel front."

Fourth and Last 'Can Matinee' To Be Held Saturday

At 9:30 Saturday morning the manager, the ushers, the stage hands and projectionists of the Ohio theater will be on hand to welcome to a fine show the boys and girls who bring cans of food for the Christmas baskets. It will be the fourth and final can matinee this year.,

And of course there will be little Jane Withers on the screen, the "bad little, nice little girl" of filmdom in "Pepper," doing all of the mischievous tricks which earn her a big salary in the movies, but would earn only a spanking in real life.

Three other interesting features —comedy, cartoon and newsreel— will round out the bill for this attractive show.

Vegetables and fruits are preferred as admission to the show, and these will be distributed in the Christmas baskets a week from tomorrow, to Mansfield's needy families.

REJECTS RATE INCREASE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The State Utilities commission refused today to grant a freight rate increase of about 15 per cent requested by all steam railroads operating in Ohio. Increases which became effective Nov. 10 on coal, iron and types of building materials are not affected by the ruling.

Up and Down THE STREET

Miss Mary Hughes, city employe, who holds the "I. Q." crown at the city building by virtue of her showing in a national contest last spring, found the going a little tougher in a home-made quiz the other day. Miss Hughes finished a close second to Miss Caleopy Zaros, telephone operator, in a contest conducted among city workers. Miss Zaros had a perfect grade.

For a while yesterday, the holiday season took on a dark hue for Miss Alice Rinehart, clerk in the county treasurer's office, when she lost $50 of her shopping money in a crowded downtown store. But maybe it was the Christmas spirit that prompted the finder to turn the money over to the manager of the store. He brought joy back to the dejected Miss Rinehart, searching the stores aisles by returning the money to her.

Yesterday's treacherous icy streets had their serious aspects, but there was a bit of humor to be found in the situation. For instance, it ought to be explained to Woodland residents that the usually dignified woman they may have seen crawling around on hands and knees over the ice was NOT Little Eva, practicing for the Muster-Cheer Christmas show. It was the wife of a prominent man-about-ton, trying to get from her stalled automobile to her home, so she could get dressed for The News-Journal football banquet last night —and the only way she could make any headway at all was to creep, throwing dignity to the winds.

Potatoes and speed were mixed together to form "Potato Day" in the typewriting classes at Senior High school yesterday. At the conclusion of a 10-minute test for accuracy, papers were checked for errors, and here's where the potatoes come in. For every error found on his paper, a student has to bring a potato to school. The potatoes will be distributed to the needy at Christmas. Indications are that the class will have a good-sized crop.

J. Y. Clinton, widely known eastern football official, was very much in evidence at the Mansfield high school football banquet staged by The News-Journal at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night. In addition to participating in the program as a speaker, Clinton also appeared in several scenes in the motion pictures concluding the program. He was shown in the Grantland Rice film as the referee of the 1929 Army-Navy game. While it was impossible to distinguish him, Clinton also served as an official in the 1914 Yale-Harvard game, parts of which also were shown.

'HATCHET MEN' DEMAND INQUIRY

Senate Committee Receives Resolutions For Probe of 'Legal Graft' In Ohio.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Efforts of the legislature's "hatchet men," militant foes of Gov. Martin L. Davey's administration and policies, to investigate what they called "legal graft" in state purchases centered today in the senate's rules committee.

Two resolutions, calling for senatorial investigations such as were balked previously by the governor, went before the committee when attempts to suspend senate rules and act on them immediately failed yesterday.

Senators Verner E. Metcalf (R-Washington) and A. D. Baumhart, jr., (R-Erie) sponsored jointly the resolution calling for an inquiry into a reported "system of collections and charges for alleged influence in state purchases."

Purchases of liquor, materials, equipment and letting of contracts would be covered in the Metcalf-Baumhart proposal, which said "such practices even though designated as legal graft are demoralizing, unfair and unjustly discriminatory."

The inquiry would be even broader than that proposed last spring when the senate tried to investigate highway and liquor departments, civil service and state tax commissions. Governor Davey's veto of a $50,000 appropriation ended that attempt.

INFANT DIES

Funeral For Son of Mansfield Couple To Be Held Friday.

Robert Derell Bachman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bachman, 238½ North Mulberry street, died Wednesday at the General hospital.

Survivors besides his parents are three sisters, Virginia, Norma and Ruth; five brothers, John, jr., Richard, Donald, Ronald and James, and his grandmother, Mrs. Kate Bachman.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where private funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m., Friday in charge of Rev. Parrott. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

LEGISLATORS OFFER BILLS TO PUNISH OHIO 'CATTLE RUSTLERS'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The state today took official cognizance of the livestock stealing situation carried on, according to Gov. Davey in a special message to the legislature, by "organized gangs of the Twentieth Century Cattle Rustlers."

Members of the legislature apparently are so anxious to call a halt to the lawlessness that two bills were introduced in the house yesterday in response to the governor's appeal for more stringent legislation.

One of the bills came from the Republican side. It was introduced by minority Floor Leader William M. McCullocuch, Miami, and levied a penalty of $500 to $2,000 or 5 to 25 years in the penitentiary, or both, for stealing a "cow, calf, bull, heifer, steer, hog, sheep or goat."

Trespassing on private lands with the object of stealing livestock would subject the offender, if caught, to $50 to $500 fine or 30 days to six months in prison, or both. Tearing down fences or barriers to release livestock would carry an even heavier penalty.

In addition, persons transprting livestock in motor vehicles would be required to carry permits showing the ownership of each animal.

An "administration" bill to strengthen the state's rustling laws was offered by Rep. A. Lee Fair, D., Holmes. The penalty for stealing livestock valued over $5 would be 2 to 15 years in the penitentiary for stealing animals valued at less than this amount the punishment would be 90 days in jail or a fine up to $300, or both.

Rep. Fair's bill was declared an emergency "for the immediate preservation of public peace, health and safety."

The McCulloch bill went to the judiciary committee and the fair bill to the agriculture committee.

GIVEN 'BID'

Mansfield Youth In Line For West Point Place.

Alvin M. Bachrach, 18, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis H. Bachrach, 33 Helen avenue, yesterday was recommended as first alternate for appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, by Congressman William A. Ashbrook of the 17th congressional district, according to word received from Washington today.

The principal or first recommendation went to Daniel H. Duren of Coshocton. Howard McIntire of Fredericktown was recommended as second alternate.

Bachrach now a freshman at Ohio State university, graduated from Mansfield high school last June. He was a member of the National Honor Society and scholastically was in the upper 10th of his class. He was active also in Boy Scout troop No. 6, and while in grade and high school held the rank of Eagle Scout, highest in scouting.

KILLERS GIVEN YULE REPRIEVES

Davey Postpones Two Executions Scheduled for Saturday.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey today granted two condemned slayers, William Gardner of Frazeysburg and Charles "Teddy" Hines of Cincinnati, Christmas reprieves. Both were scheduled to be electrocuted in Ohio penitentiary Saturday.

The governor explained in postponing the executions 30 days that he did not want the electrocutions to occur before Christmas. He had granted them 45-day reprieves last month to permit further study of their cases.

DIGS AT GREEN STRAIN MOVES TO HEAL SPLIT

Convention Envoys Call Lewis 'Peerless Leader,' Rush to Endorse Policies.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—John L. Lewis, CIO generalissimo, came today to Pittsburgh to address a public audience for the first time since peace negotiations began between his unit and the American Federation of Labor.

The blunt spoken, shaggy-haired labor leader, was to face the 925 delegates to the CIO's Steel Workers convention—which yesterday hailed him as "the peerless leader."

Developments during the past two days had stained the labor peace negotiations. Philip Murray, Lewis' lieutenant and chairman of the SWOC, first called President William Green of the A. F. of L. a "blithering blatherskite" and charged he and his executive council were responsible for the labor split.

Then, after James F. Dewey, U. S. labor conciliator, hurried to Pittsburgh, Murray added the charge yesterday that the federation was attempting to utilize the national labor relations board in a subversive campaign to destroy industrial unionism.

Slams Labor Board.

Murray is chairman of the CIO's peace delegation, which is scheduled to meet next Tuesday with the federation's committee.

While the steel workers were passing resolution after resolution, endorsing Lewis and the CIO policies, Murray took the floor to criticize the labor board.

The one-time Scottish coal miner talked about a resolution which endorsed the Wagner Labor act but denounced recent decisions of the labor board which permitted craft unions to bargain collectively in plants where the CIO had been declared the exclusive bargaining agency.

"The anti-union fight that has been constantly waged by the federation against the CIO unions seems to be having its effect upon certain labor board administrators," Murray shouted to the convention. "At least two members of the board seem to have been diverted from the course intended by the law."

The convention cheered their leader; adopted the resolution unanimously.

Other resolutions passed by the convention endorsed the six-hour day, 30-hour work week, a billion dollar appropriation by congress for continuation of work by the PWA and WPA; labor's non-partisan league; firm adherence to contracts, a federal anti-lynch law; boycott of Japanese manufactured goods and a five billion dollar federal housing program.

WIDOW, 83, DIES

Mrs. Boliantz Had Lived In Mansfield 36 Years.

Mrs. Christina Boliants, 83, widow of Joseph Boliantz, died this morning at the home of her son, Jeff, 273 Harker street, following a lingering illness. Mrs. Boliantz was born April 3, 1853 in Jugoslavia and came to Mansfield 36 years ago.

She is survived by her son Jeff and a daughter, Mrs. Natial Dudlutz of Canada, 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

WITH THE ready acceptance by Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy of his appointment as ambassador to Great Britain comes some disappointment. No one wants to disparage the services performed by Mr. Kennedy nor spoil his pleasure in the new field he is about to enter. None the less the conception of him as a citizen who, anxious only to help in a crisis, devotes his great abilities to salvaging the ship of state without desire for reward, is somewhat marred.

* * *

IT WAS a picture consistently painted by various journalistic admirers and, it must be admitted, somewhat contributed to by Mr. Kennedy, himself. No other idea of the man, for example, fits his eloquent exhortation before the economic club of New York last week when he lectured business men upon their duty, called upon more of them to go down to Washington and, as he was doing, make their "contribution" instead of finding fault, pointed out that "there never was a time when it was more important for you and all of us to get behind and try to do something for the cause." He has just repeated this lecture in an interview in which he severely scolded business men for not being sweeter toward the president.

* * *

AND THEN WE find that, despite the "national economic disaster" which he asserts threatens us, and his vehement intimation that patriotic men should go to Washington, there to do what they can to avert the crash—then we find that Mr. Kennedy has gone to Palm Beach for Christmas, which is, of course, all right, and after Christmas is going to England for the next three years, which is all right, too, but it does rather muss up the picture. It develops that actually while he was lambasting business men for not "coming down to Washington" and there taking their share of "abuse" (though if he ever got any abuse no one can recall it)—at that very time he knew he was slated for the softest and most socially desirable of all diplomatic posts. Certainly no one can object to his grasping this honor if he covets it, but it does detract from the force of his arraignment of those who retain doubt concerning the sincerity of Mr. Roosevelt and are not in Washington helping to ward off the "national economic disaster."

* * *

NOR CAN IT be maintained that Mr. Kennedy has been drafted for this high ambassadorial place, that it has been forced upon him, or that there exists an emergency which compels him to leave Washington, where our domestic difficulties multiply and the need of the president for wise counsel and disinterested friends is very great, indeed. It is equally impossible—though the effort is made—to sustain any theory of the vital importance of his new post. It glitters, it is true, but that is all. There is a dignified position to maintain, speeches to be made, entertaining to do and many routine duties. But there really are no great problems to be solved. Mr. Hull has already laid the foundations for his reciprocal treaty with Great Britain, and when there arise real questions of international agreements on currency, debts or co-operative action, this administration sends to the scene its specially trained and widely experienced ambassador-at-large, Mr. Norman Davis. In these days of the transatlantic telephone, ambassadors are little more than glorified messenger boys, and the only way you can make a bad ambassador is by making an ass of yourself.

* * *

IF TWO WEEKS ago anyone had suggested that Mr. Kennedy wanted an ambassadorship, his friends would have hooted in derision. The secretary of the treasury—yes; but an ambassador—don't be foolish. It shows you never can tell. How is he going to make his "contribution" over there? Of what use is his great influence with Mr. Roosevelt 3,000 miles away? Who is going to check the Corcorans and the Cohens, block the anti-capitalistic conspirators and retard our progress toward inflation? No one has seen the New Deal dangers more clearly than Mr. Kennedy, and no one, to use his own eloquent words, has "belly-ached" privately more strongly about them than he—a fact which Mr. Kennedy will hardly deny. Should he do so there would be great astonishment among some of his dearest friends.

* * *

HIS WITHDRAWAL from the domestic scene is a great loss. It takes out of the presidential "inner circle" the best conservative influence, the one really able man, capable of forcible presentation of the hard economic facts to his too impulsive chief. He ought to be secretary of the treasury. He has done two good jobs in Washington and his qualifications for the treasury post are conceded. He is wasted as an ambassador because as such he will have nothing to do commensurate with his energy and ability. Of course, he is entitled to the place. First and last, he has given a lot of money to the Roosevelt cause. He was one of four to put up $10,000 each in 1931, which enabled Mr. Farley to go over the country bagging delegates. He contributed heavily in 1936. In addition, he has loaned the Democratic committee a considerable sum. There is no question about his rating the job. Nor is there any doubt that he will make a popular and adequate ambassador. The surprise is that, under existing circumstances and in the light of his most recent public utterances he should want to be one or think that he can continue making his "contribution" by such remote control.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Tovarich" was set down on the Warner production schedule for a generous seven weeks. The filming required 12. The picture was not intended to cost in excess of a million. It did. For these and other reasons, "Tovarich" became a "jinx picture."

Like many another film unhappily brought forth, "Tovarich" emerges happily in the department that counts most: the final result. This has brought Anatole Litvak, a director who did not flinch at 20 to 30 takes on a scene, a new contract. It has brought to film-goers a piece of superior entertainment.

Dealing with two hapless, proud and amusing Russian aristocrats who go into domestic service in Paris, the screen "Tovarich" is a pleasant mixture of broad and subtle comedy, done with considerable verve and gaiety, and with fine tenderness when the occasion demands.

* * *

Charles Boyer, whose French accent serves admirably for Russian, and Claudette Colbert, who affects no accent, play the refugees who, while making beds and shining shoes with an aristocratic but thoroughgoing flourish, keep in trust a fortune for their Tsar. Master and mistress in the home are Melville Cooper and Isabel Jeans, both British importations likely to remain here a while. Son and daughter are Anita Louise and Maurice Murphy. Boyer and Colbert, without conscious effort, practically Russianize this banker's family as prelude to the main comedy scenes—the dinner party for the Soviet commissar (Basil Rathbone) at which the former aristocrats serve with dignity but not without effective hate and humor.

"Wells Fargo" is a commendable attempt to dramatize the stirring history of American transportation, which is America's history during some 40 turbulent years. Frank Lloyd's production is spectacular, embracing the gold rush era, the first telegraph, covered wagon and pony express days, early San Francisco life and a bank panic, together with a smattering of politics and the Civil war, with word-of-mouth excursion into the Mexican fracas and brief view of Lola Montez. So much history strung on the narrative of Wells Fargo agent Joel McCrea's part in winning the west and his romance and marriage with Francis Dee makes for some exciting sequences but interferes with the desired effect of sustained drama.

Bob Burns as Joel's pioneer pal is on hand with his customary drawled observations. A silent Indian played by Bernard Siegel was the cast standout for me, but Mary Nash, Ralph Morgan, Henry O'Neill, Lloyd Nolan, Johnny Mack Brown and many others contribute.

A program included "Hungarian Christmas Carol," a piano solo, by Betty Constance; "Christmas Morn," a reading, by Mrs. Jane Beelman; "Education Better than Compulsion," by Mrs. Ethel Constance; and "Fairyland" by Mrs. Helen Edmonstone. Betty Constance recited "Visit of the Shepherds" and Christmas carols were played by a three-piece string quartet.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

THERE WAS consternation and bitter disappointment in Mary's face as Noel said that they might as well give up the gift of an extra day with each other that I had devised for them and bow to his father's ruthless determination to make him return to New Hampshire as quickly as possible.

But there was something else in her eyes which made me stir uneasily at the possibilities that might lie beneath that ill-concealed emotion. For, if I was not mistaken, there was something vaguely akin to contempt in that glance—the contempt of a woman whose man would not fight for her against his father's tyranny.

She did not speak for a long second. Then she tossed her head ever so lightly; but, nevertheless, it was a distinctly defiant gesture.

"As you choose, of course," she said. "After all, it isn't very important that you stay over; not to be compared with upsetting your father. He probably has planned something for you to do which will upset him and others very much if you are not back on the job tomorrow."

Delicate Venom.

There was delicate venom in her voice and every one of us understood her taunting reference to Princess Olina. It straightened Noel's figure as if he had been roweled.

"Mary!" he exclaimed, almost shouted, with bewilderment, despair and anger in his voice.

"Sorry, Auntie Madge." Mary went on debonairly as if he had not spoken, and I saw that the twin devils of jealousy and anger were possessing her. "It's too bad you had all this trouble for nothing, but I guess the easiest way out is to have Noel call his dad right now, say he just came in, and take his orders as to the best way home."

Grandmother Intervenes.

It is an old aphorism that there is a trace of the savage in every good woman, as well as in every bad one, and I bowed to it as I realized that every word she uttered was like the lash of a whip, and that she meant her diatribe to be a scourge for her young husband's spirit. But she reckoned without a woman of her own blood and spirit, her grandmother, who had been watching her as she spoke, and who now walked measuredly toward her, taking her by the shoulder as if she were a refractory child.

"Mary, you are acting like a fool," she said, shaking her granddaughter, slightly. "Noel hasn't said anything that's any reason for your flaring out at him like this."

"I didn't flare out at him," Mary said childishly, and I guessed that for the instant she had slipped back years and was again a naughty little girl undergoing discipline at the hands of her grandmother. "I just said that—"

Mary Holds Temper.

"We all know what you just said," her grandmother interrupted coolly, "and if it wasn't flaring, I don't know what you'd call it. You were in a temper tantrum if I ever saw one, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself. You've hurt your husband and made an exhibition of yourself. For two cents I'd turn you over my knee and spank you soundly."

I was a bit tremulous as my mother-in-law finished, for I know Mary's fiery temper and realized how hard it was for her to stand still and take her grandmother's scolding without resentment. But Mother Graham is the one person in the world who can say anything she chooses to Mary for the bond of affection between them is very strong and tender. But it seemed an eternity to me that Mary stood stiff and unyielding before, with a choking gasp, she put out her arms which the older woman had released, and took her white-haired grandmother into a tempestuous embrace, fairly sobbing out her contrition.

"I'm the world's worst," she said. "And Noel, darling, I didn't mean a single horrid word I said. You will forgive me, won't you?"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, December 17.

A PARTICULARLY lively and exciting day is foretold by the prevailing astral influences. Stirring events connected with a peculiar intriguing or mysterious circumstance may divert attention from routine matters. Strangers as well as elders may figure in this, with adverse as well as benignant force. Business, employment and private adventures call for circumspect management, tact, stratagem, or possibly collusion.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves involved in a year of curious, pecular or mysterious circumstances, affecting employment, business and the private life. Strangers and elders may play a part in these, the latter perhaps in connection with grief. But in all there are auspicious conditions if managed with tact, subtlety or collusion.

A child born on this day may be energetic and progressive but also restless, changeable, emotional, impressionable and adventurous. It may have an unusual career, with fluctuating fortunes.

My Neighbor Says:

Soil in which plants and cuttings are to be transplanted to kill weed seeds that may be in it should be baked.

Bake meringues in an oven 200 to 250 degrees until they are a delicate brown. If oven is too hot meringues will be tough.

Honey that has sugared may be melted by placing the container in a vessel of hot but not boiling water.

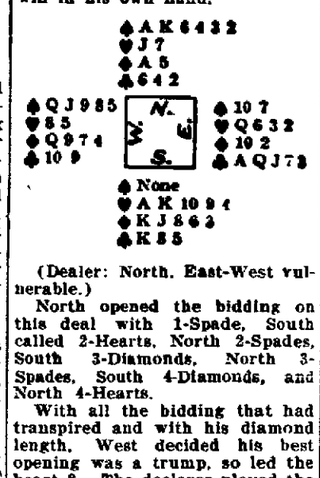
"The Authority on Authorities"

LET THOSE CARDS DIE

If you see a good possibility that the declarer has no entry into the dummy, it is foolish to lead to certain high cards over there. They are bound to go to waste if he cannot get to them. Your job in such a situation is to lead something which he has to win in his own hand.



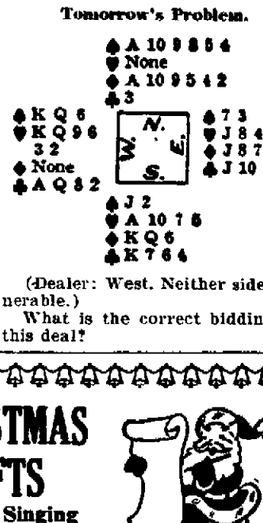
(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Spade, South called 2-Hearts, North 2-Spades, South 3-Diamonds, North 3-Spades, South 4-Diamonds, and North 4-Hearts.

With all the bidding that had transpired and with his diamond length, West decided his best opening was a trump, so led the heart 8. The declarer played the 7 from dummy and East ducked, so South won in his own hand with the 9. He now set out to attempt to establish the diamond suit. The diamond A was cashed, the diamond K cashed and a diamond ruffed with dummy's trump J. East, however, overruffed this with the Q. Reading that South's remaining three cards, outside of the 10 shown by the bidding, included at least one spade, East returned a spade and South got two discards. These were just enough to give him his contract, as his losses then amounted to one heart, one club and one diamond.

Even though South held the club K, the return of that suit by East would have caused South to lose two tricks there and one each in hearts and diamonds. Declarer had intended to take his two discards when he ruffed the third diamond, but his plan would have failed except for the aid rendered by East.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

Menu Hint.

Tomato Juice Lamb with Fruit
Green Peppers Stuffed with Rice
Green Peas
Pineapple and Cottage Cheese Salad
Pumpkin Pie Cheese
Coffee

Lamb by any other name may not taste much different, but lamb with fruit stuffing is swell and is much more aristocratic than any mere common garden variety roast of lamb. It is "different," too, and so helps to put interest into the cooking job. The recipe is by Inez S. Wilson.

Today's Recipes.

Cushion Style Shoulder of Lamb with Fruit Stuffing—One lamb shoulder, boned; two cups bread crumbs, six cooked apricots, diced; six cooked prunes, diced; one small orange, chopped; one egg, beaten light; salt and pepper. Have bone removed from shoulder of lamb. Sew on three sides, leaving a fourth side open for dressing. Make a dressing of the bread crumbs, fruits and beaten eggs. Pile this into the cavity made by removing the bone from the lamb shoulder. Sew or skewed the edges together. Place the stuffed lamb shoulder on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) until done. It will require 30 to 35 minutes per pound for roasting.

Pumpkin Pie—One and one-half cups or half a can of strained pumpkin, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two eggs, one tablespoon cornstarch, one-half teaspoon each allspice, cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup milk. Put into unbaked pie crust and bake in a fairly hot oven at 400 degrees, for the first 10 minutes to bake the crust, then turn to 300.

Shopping with Wynnie Wynchel

The nights before Christmas will be gala evenings, so brush up your wardrobe for festive nights . . . more people are giving more parties and you will want clothes that sparkle . . . scintillate . . . intoxicate . . . that are keyed to the trend of a "top hat" season; of an exciting, never-ending whirl that includes a round of dances, theater engagements and general merry-making! In your hurry to help others, don't forget to enjoy this season with your loved ones . . . see you at the Charity show Saturday night—

The siren that lurks in every woman's heart knows she chooses her clothes from a desire to be deliberately provocative. She must look extravagant, alluring—but subtly, as the perfumed air she breathes. She knows that it's finished details that will assure her entrance anywhere being accompanied by a fanfare of "Ah-h-hs." She knows that stockings play a large part in the wardrobe—they're important now—skirts are shorter . . . and they're important because they definitely affect her feeling of well-being. You'll be giving a gift of many happy hours if you give stockings from REED'S. For formal daytime wear and informal evenings—give Quaker or Gold Stripe hose with ankle-slendering black heels ($1.00 and $1.15). To the woman who is always "up" on the latest styles—give the new irridescent hose—in daylight one shade and in electric light another, more dazzling color . . . regular 3 thread for street wear in Van Raalte at $1, and Red Earth in beautifully clear and sheer two-thread Van Raalte is $1.15. Gorgeous Gordon hose with clocks are $1.50 the pair. Quaker hose in a delicate lace are $1.25. Lace in irridescent colors taxes you only $1.15. So you see the wealth of beauty there is at REED'S at a nominal cost. Think of the joy you'd bring to fluttering feminine hearts with a whole stocking wardrobe . . . 6 pair of good stockings for street wear, 2 pair of black heeled hose to lend that ultra-sophisticated look to her smart black costumes, 2 pair of lace hose for formal afternoons and informal evenings, 2 pair of beautifully sheer, two-thread hose to be saved for only special-special occasions. Try that on THE miss of the moment and notice the difference in the warmth of your reception!

Santa's boosting GOLDSMITH'S again . . . and small wonder too, when you see the wonders of gifts I saw there today! My gifts are bought . . . I'm an early shopper, but so many people were amazed at the lovely things I told them I found at Goldsmith's that I've been appointed special shopping agent, and so I have the fun of shopping all over again . . . and for men's gifts—back to Goldsmith's I went! They're so nice about helping you shop . . . I was wrong a lot of times, but didn't realize how well I was helped into the right paths until it was all over. Don't get me wrong, they didn't try to sell me things I didn't want . . . they just steered me into the right track when I explained who the gifts were for . . . after all—they do know those things better than we do. Something I think I've forgotten to mention before—Goldsmith's have available beautiful monograms to give your scarf, robe, or pajamas the "for you alone" atmosphere so important in the from her to him gift. Mufflers are $1 and up. I watched one Mansfield Beau Brummell doing his gift shopping succumb to a swanky lemon yellow one for himself . . . I don't blame him—it was irresistable! . . . as are most of the gifts at Goldsmith's. They tell me many women have taken advantage of my advice on how to keep hubby home and happy . . . you know, with robes and loungies that flatter his type of masculine charm . . . related for perfect harmony in spirit and color . . . key them to a man's personality, as I suggested last week, to give the greatest comfort and relaxation. Don't give the athletic type fellow the cocktail jacket that so obviously should belong to the suave bachelor who entertains a lot at home—give the hardy fellow who enjoys cold showers a Terry robe and blazer pajamas. Silk lined silk robes and smooth conservative pajamas should be given to the traveling man who likes nice things, but hasn't much space to pack them. A dark flannel robe with small designed pajamas to the husband who'll wear nothing but white shirts . . . plaid robes and striped broadcloth pajamas will flatter the boys away at school or college. And for those fellows who can never get warm—outing flannel p.j.'s in gay "warm" colors. If you've shopped all the grand gifts at Goldsmith's and you're still at a loss for that most important gift . . . get him a gift certificate for a hat of his own choosing. GOLDSMITH'S have fixed them up so that they make a smart gift . . . and then you know he'll like his gift because he can choose it himself . . . and sport a new hat for the New Year. . . another Goldsmith gift—for both men and women is one of luggage . . . they do have some smart leather bags and the new airplane pieces are chic—also lighter to carry. Go to Goldsmith's and snoop around. You'll find it worthwhile—if you're looking for quality gifts at sensible prices.

Bags within the bag . . . that's what Santa has there because he's just been to visit MISS DITWILER on West Third Street and he's taken advantage of her Special on lovely gift bags . . . 200 of them at $1. That's the biggest bargain news of the day. But remember there are only 200 purses there, and the special is good for Friday and Saturday only. I doubt if they last till Saturday though because they're excellent gift buys . . . and they'll sell in a hurry. While you're at this smart little shop . . . snoop around as I did and see the clever Christmas greeting cards and small gifts.

Yippee, Santa — it sure is a sportsman's Christmas with all this weather! MARTIN'S HARDWARE are doing their share toward helping you with Christmas gift ideas for sports minded child or adult on your list. From little Ski-skates that seem really safe to let the youngest youngsters out on . . . to skis that will send even you and me floundering in the snow. From substantial sleds that we can borrow from the kids on gala nights when we, too, feel snow-minded to slick skates on gay white shoes for the fanciest skaters going. If you're one of those people that feel silly and wobbly on skates (I am) . . . let's get ourselves a new pair for Christmas and really get out and skate—it's such fun, when you know how! Besides these sporting goods gifts, MARTIN'S HARDWARE have an excellent variety of children's wheel toys. Taylor Tots for the very young sell for $4.50 . . . a little Pedal bike (kiddie car to you) complete with bell costs you $2. A regular 3 wheeler bike (with tail light, too) is $11.00, a blue and silver, stream-lined one cost $12.00. Scooters are $1.75, $4.50 and $9.00. Wagons—all types and sizes start in price at $2.25. And for Daddy's helper in the garden—a little red wheelbarrow that costs but $1.25. See them all at MARTIN'S HARDWARE.

Santa's broadcasting from STUHLDREHER'S again . . . to all homes that want to enjoy and spread the Christmas spirit . . . come now to STUHLDREHER'S ON FOURTH and choose your decorations—get them up in the windows and around the home. Don't miss the Western holly with it's big shiny green leaves and large red berries. Then there's the lovely long needled pine for mantle decoration and doorway draping . . . wreaths of holly, pine or boxwood. Gayly colorful winter berries at only 50c the bunch. Centerpieces of Candles, pine and berries—$1.00 and up—they're beautiful! Then, too, there's the all-important roping—of either pine or laurel. There are so many things at STUHLDREHER'S ON FOURTH that will help make your Christmas and that of many others happier, and for just a few cents. Go in and look around . . . you'll come out with a Christmas smile, in spite of yourself.

Sure, he's tickled! He's solved all those ticklish gift problems by going to the OHIO PUBLIC SERVICE CO. and getting electrical gifts. There's an alarm clock for the youngster away at school . . . a hospitality tray for the newlyweds . . . an electric warming pad for the people who have the brand new youngster . . . an electric percolator for the housewife who likes to entertain well . . . a toaster or grill for most anyone . . . corn poppers for the stay-at-homes . . . an electric iron for the housekeeper who hasn't thought how efficient the new ones are! . . . countless electrical gifts that will please the recipient so very much—at the Ohio Public Service Company. These are gifts that, not only bring joy to the Christmas Season, but all year round and for years to come your electrical gift will make life easier and more pleasant for someone.

Stop! Right now! If you haven't bought your Christmas cards and think you're going to have to be satisfied with left-overs. I uncovered something swell in RITTER'S today while I was snooping around in there. Christmas Formals—the kind you sign in longhand have something new and different in store for you. Beautiful cards displaying engraved etchings, reprints, water colors . . . many already have messages printed in them . . . at RITTER'S you can have these imprinted with your own name, if you wish that rather than signing them in long-hand. Other Cards—and I must admit I like them best—have nothing but a beautiful decorative cover, the folder is blank . . . for your personal message, written in your own hand, to give it the really personal touch. These cards are very unusual and worth your consideration if your greeting cards are not already bought or ordered . . . they cost but five to twenty-five cents the card. Remember, people will judge you by your greeting carrier for Christmas, just as they do by your stationery . . . so be careful in your choice and do yourself and your friends justice with your Christmas greeting cards from RITTER'S.

250 AT TYGER VICTORY DINNER

Celebration Climaxes Great Season as City Eulogizes Players and Coaches.

out a complaint from the crowd.

The testimonial dinner brought the announcement from Coach J. Russell Murphy of the election of Warren Rupp and Dick Nagle as co-captains of the 1938 squad. Rupp is a guard and Nagle a halfback. Both are juniors.

Coach Murphy awarded letters to more than half of the 72 members of the squad at the dinner for their play in the 1937 season.

Players who received letters were: Seniors—Capt. John Hallabrin, Karl Korokney, Bob Hamilton, Dan Stehle, John Kinkel, Elmer Dials, Barney Adams, John Horvath, Daryl Heiser, Walter Zeigler, Ed. Duncan, Ray Bowersoek, Paul Ballet, Joe Majoy, Earl Deems, Harold Luckie, Willa mBaker and Bob Hammett. Juniors—Bob Murray, Dick McMullen, William Condon, Dick Nagle, Harold Gallagher, Isaac Smith, Joseph Lehr, William Russell, Warren Rupp, Ted Bush, Joseph Cosentino, and Aryl Williams.

Letters also went to John Korokney, Martin Durbin, Blaine Sellers, Bob Knofflock and Bob Moyer, managers, and to George Biddle, Robert Straub, Albert Allen, Donald Ross, Eugene Lantz and Robert Rhodes, cheerleaders.

Introduces Guests.

Representatives from the city's leading industries and city and school officials were introduced by Toastmaster Williams, most of them greeting the team and paying it honor for the 1937 record.

Among the guests presented were Mayor Earl A. McFarland; Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Ohio State reformatory; Louis J. Ott, advertising manager of the Ohio Brass company; Carl Gibson, advertising manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company; C. H. Henkel, vice president of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company; W. H. McClelland of the Dominion Electric company; H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education and a representative of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company; Ray Hammer, advertising manager of the Tappan Stove company; John W. Graham, general manager of The News-Journal; R. D. Lindsay, managing editor of The News-Journal; W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools; Jesse Beer, principal of Senior high school; Harry E. Mehock, assistant coach; Al Fendrick, coach at Madison high school, and R. J. Hodges, coach at Bellville.

Supt. Miller composed as headlines for an imaginary extra edition of The News-Journal, suggesting that the story heads run something like this: "Third Annual Banquet Tremendous Success;" "Squad Ends Marvelous Season;" Coaching Staff Outstanding in Art of Teaching Football;" and then in small letters at the bottom, "Ask Massillon." (Editor's note—In one of the season's big upsets, Mansfield held the great Massillon team to a 6-6 tie, something no other Ohio school did this year.)

There was music during the dinner by members of the high school band directed by J. Merton Holcombe. The drum majors were introduced by Director Holcombe.

Homecoming for 'Pete.'

The dinner was a real homecoming for "Pete" Henry, who found a number of his old high school teammates in the crowd. Among them were Earle Troll, Howard Hosler, Brig Young and Aaron Davis.

Rev. Grover Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church and one of the city's loyal grid fans, gave the invocation. Rev. Swoyer's son, Grover, was one of the sophomore members of the squad who received a letter.

Movies showing the evolution of football since it was first originated in this country in 1869 and pictures of outstanding games of the 1937 season were shown by Harry DeLaney of the Delcore Movie company.

Introduced by Williams as "a home-town boy Mansfield is proud of," Henry welcomed the 1937 team and then gave the boys some pointers on how to apply the lessons taught by football to life after school days.

Cites Football's Lessons.

"The game of football has many lessons that can be carried right on through life," the former Mansfield star said. "It teaches you to play and work with your fellowmen in orderly fashion, and this country is orderly because it follows a set of rules as you have to do in football to win."

Emphsizing the importance of plenty of spirit, Henry urged the players to "never quit fighting—that means a lot."

"Spirit is better than 75 per cent of the battle," he said. "It is that intangible thing that helps a fellow to lift himself by his bootstraps. It makes an inspired and winning team out of a mediocre one."

The Mansfield player of 25 years ago praised the grid game for the qualities it develops in boys.

"You get bumps out there on the field just as you will get them in outside life—the kind that bring out the best and worst in a boy. When you get out of school, go out and block as you do on the field. You might even go into a huddle again and figure out some plays and a system."

Contracts Enipment.

Contrasting the modern equipment the high school has now to that of his days on the squad when it was necessary to dress in the basement of John Simpson high school and then go to the fairgrounds to practice, Henry urged the team "to take your fine field and school to heart," and added that 'you won't appreciate it until you get out of school.

"You fellows who are gentlemen on and off the field are always looked up to as an ideal. It's up to you to show your appreciation for the backing of the people of Mansfield by being gentlemen and good sports on through life."

Another notable guest, and a Washington and Jefferson man, was Ray Ride, coach at Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland. He paid tribute to Henry and to the 1937 Mansfield team.

"Although I attended Washington and Jefferson several years after Pete made history there, his spirit was still alive when I was there and it still lives," he said. He referred to the Tygers as a "well known team in Cleveland where sports writers have given them considerable attention this season."

J. Y. Clinton, a new-comer to Mansfield football circles who has officiated at Army-Navy and Rose Bowl games, told the players and fans of some of the interesting highlights of his career as an official.

"Officiating now is a soft job compared to what it used to be when there were no rules against coaching from the sidelines," he declared. "A few years ago we had trouble with bench players and coaches running down the sidelines, or onto the field, shouting instruction to players."

REMEMBER THAT NIGHT

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

CHAPTER VIII

She wasn't a great singer, Kasten thought. She never would be. But she could put a song over and she was beautiful. That was the important thing—her being beautiful. Women might say, "She has no voice," but the men would say, "No, but she's beautiful."

Thanking the orchestra leader, Karen walked back to Kasten.

"What kind of dress have you got?" he asked.

Her eyes were grateful. "A gray chiffon one."

"No. That won't do. Get something bright."

"But gray is good. You don't see many gray evening dresses."

He grinned. Maybe the kid was right. "Okay. We'll see how you look tonight and if you don't look right, you'll have to get something else. You've got to have your picture taken for downstairs."

Looking over her head, he called, "That's all, boys."

Karen said, "Thank you."

"You'll get used to it." She was a nice kid. Her eyes were grateful. "Now about some pictures. I'll tell you where to go . . ."

Ten minutes later she was walking in the warm June sun to a studio. She had been terrible, she knew. Why had he taken her? Men like Sam Kasten didn't hire you because they liked you or felt sorry for you. To them you were an investment from which they expected high dividends. But Roxanne's job was safe as long as she had it.

Seeing a tall man in brown a few feet away from her, she slackened her pace and her heart seemed to stop. Philip? If it were he, he would say in his amused, suave voice, "Karen, we meet again." And she could hate him and love him in the same breath. But it was not Philip and she hurried on.

* * *

There was a letter post-marked from Harriston when she reached her room late that afternoon. Lying across the studio bed she tore it open. It was from Cora Hillman who wrote, "I thought you might like to know that Jerry is 'dating' Mary Catherine Halsey almost every night. Somehow I don't like it because I know she's only catching him on the rebound.

"How is New York? You can have it, darling, but I'll take Harriston. I've a house that isn't paid for and a husband who will never be rich but I'll take them any time to walking hard pavements and eating in automats and living in one room. I'd rather be a big fish in a little pond. Ted was asking last night how you were, I said I hoped you'd either come back in a mink coat and an imported car or know you were licked soon enough to come back and marry Jerry. Write and tell me about you. I might be thrilled but I won't be envious. While you're trying to become famous, I'm housecleaning and all steamed up over new summer rugs and love it!"

Smiling, Karen folded the letter slowly. Cora had been sensible enough to know that New York had defeated her. She had Ted and love in a white cottage with green shutters. "I'd have given up and gone back if I had not met Philip,' she thought, looking out the small window at the sunset. But Philip had been her challenge. To make him proud of her, to make him see her some day, not as a stubborn fighting girl alone, but as an actress.

* * *

The hotel roof, its daytime ugliness gone, was alive with people when, wearing the graceful gray chiffon dress and the white satin coat, Karen arrived that night. With a big cigar in his mouth, Sam Kasten waited by the entrance.

Hiding her nervousness with a crooked smile, Karen said, "Well, I'm here."

His shrewd little eyes narrowed. "You need more make-up. On the eyes. You know, Lolita'll help you." Maybe he was crazy, he thought, leading the way. Maybe she'd get stage fright and cry or faint or something.

He knocked against a door and a high feminine voice asked, "Yes? Who is it?"

"I'm sending Miss Mallare in. Help her get fixed up." Looking down at Karen's shining dark head, he said, "You're on first, I'm depending on you. Good luck, kid." Tomorrow, he thought, he'd either have a headache or a new blues singer would be launched upon a career. Oh, well, take a chance. This was a chance anyway.

Lolita's black eyes flashed through a mask of cold cream.

"Hullo," she said with a hint of Spanish accent. "You're so pale! Much too pale. The lights makes you look dead. The eyes should sparkle. Poor Roxanne! She love him so much. Her Bill. She talk about him all the time. Come, I'll fix you up." Darkening Karen's thick dark lashes, she continued in her high, excited voice, "Now don't be frightened. Look at one man and sing to him as if you love him very much."

"I can't help it. I am scared."

"Tonight? Yes! But tomorrow night a little less . . . I know. There! Don't let Sam scare you. He doesn't say much but he," she tapped her head, he think! You know what he think?" She laughed. "That all the men will think you are very beautiful."

A few minutes later as she stood in the narrow hall, she heard the orchestra leader introduce her. If Philip were here . . . "Sing to him as if you love him very much."

But when she was standing in the spotlight, she could distinguish no particular face. The music began slowly . . .

Looking at her, slim and dark-haired with the pleated gray chiffon spilling gracefully about the tall-heeled silver sandals, Sam Kasten was still convinced that she would never be a great singer but he knew that she would be an asset to his floor show.

Five nights later Philip came in with young Tommy Nolting. The place was crowded. The waiter led them to a table near the orchestra.

Coming on, Karen saw him. But it was to the tall blond young man she sang and Tommy responded with a flattered smile.

In the doorway Sam Kasten wagged his nearly bald head. Tommy Nolting, the playboy, and Philip Ashley, the playwright. And Sam Kasten told himself that either he was a smart man or else it had been his lucky day the day Karen Mallare came to him.

Her songs over, Karen lowered her head, smiled, and left the spotlight. In the narrow little hall before the dressing room she stopped and pressed her hands against her burning face. Philip! Would he be there when she sang again?

Top 'Can' Matfest

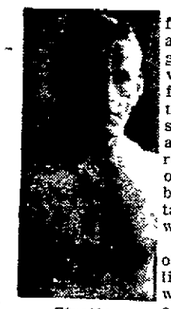
Stratton, Becker to Collide In One of Two Headline Matches Monday.

WALTER STRATTON, young light-heavyweight contender from Leetonia, and George Becker, "German Bomber" from New York City, have been signed to headline Monday night's second "can o' food" show to be staged by the Quality club at the Armory.

Women and children will be admitted for a can of fruit or vegetables, which, in turn, will be contributed to the Three Muster Cheers for their Christmas baskets for Mansfield's needy. More than 300 cans were collected at last week's show.

Matches Popular Pair.

In signing Stratton and Becker, Promoter Tim Nolan has matched a popular pair.



Stratton

Both of these flashy young athletes are great favorites with Mansfield fans because of their clean, sportsmanlike action in the ring, and because of the fact that both are spectacular in their work.

Stratton is one of the strongest little men in the world. His record of having lifted 250 pounds at arms length over head and doing seven knee bends with it held thus, attracted international attention and comment a few years ago.

Walter gave up his weight lifting to engage in the more exhilarating and profitable sport of professional wrestling and the clean cut youngster from northern Ohio has made a pronounced hit in his new profession. Becker also is a youngster as wrestlers go.

Two-Fall Affair.

These two boys have been signed to grapple for two best out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit under Midwest Wrestling association rules.

ELYRIA TEAM OPEN

The Worthington Dry Cleaners of the Elyria Class A league seek games with Mansfield cage clubs. Write to Frank Walend, Chronicle-Telegram, Elyria, O.

Co-Captains Lead Tygers

Nagle Rupp

Co-captains will lead the next Mansfield high school football edition next fall.

Rich Nagle, a fullback on this year's team, and Warren Rupp, a guard, were unanimously elected co-captains at an election held by lettermen prior to the annual football banquet staged for the squad at the Mansfield-Leland hotel by The News-Journal last night.

John Hallabrin's successors to the captaincy are juniors, and both were regulars last season.

Nagle started the season as a center, but he was converted into a back after the first few games, and developed into one of the best backs on the club before the end of the campaign.

Rupp played his first year of football this year, and proved to be a worthy successor to Gaylor Bucher, who was selected on the All-Ohio team in 1935 and 1936.

Next year will mark the first time since 1930 that the Tygers will be led by co-captains. Ned Brooks and Don Matthews co-captained the 1930 team.

Hallabrin and Bucher were elected co-captains for last season, but only the former served as Bucher was lost to the team through ineligibility.

BUSY THIS WEEK-END

The Y. M. C. A. cage combine faces a tough assignment over the week-end. On Friday night at the Y the quintet faces the Marion Indepenents and on Saturday will act as hosts to the Shelby Cycle company outfit. The Y aggregation have registered two victories so far this season.

ONLY one match was bowled in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night, but there was no lack of fireworks.

The Metcalf Pure Oils blossomed out with a spectacular 3137 to take three games from the Meder Recreation in the only match. The other matches were postponed, and will be bowled in the near future.

Featuring the hefty string compiled by the Oilmen was a torrid middle game of 1168 in which the anchor man, Leland Stock, cracked out a 270. The Oils started with a 1029 and finished with a 940 to take the Meder team, which came through with a 2666, into camp in fairly easy fashion.

Leland Stock was the brightest star for the oils. In addition to the 270 game, he accounted of scores of 223 and 197 for a 690 total. Art Thomas contributed a 247 game and 664 total, while Dale Cleckner shot a 242 and 643.

The other 600 roller in the Oil team's ranks was Farrell Hipp, who blasted out a 630.

Stage Show at Madison.

Earl Taylor's musical stage production, "Revue Glorified," featuring a cast of 55, takes over the stage at the Madison theater starting Friday. The show will be presented also at a midnight performance at 11:30 Friday. The cast features Gordon Pennett, Broadway tenor; Ona Mayo, the Congo princess, Ray Taylor, and Leon and Diana, popular dance team. In addition to the stage presentation, the Madison offers the screen production, "Beg, Borrow or Steal," with Frank Morgan, Florence Rice and John Beal. The story concerns an American tourist guide who has to promote a chateau for the wedding of his daughter to carry out a bluff. His daughter and her fiance arrive and then the fun begins.

Play Historical Roles.

Greta Garbo as the Polish countess, Marie Walewska, and Charles Boyer as Napoleon Bonaparte bring to the screen of the Ohio theater a vivid picture of the struggle the emperor had in his efforts to conquer the world. The story itself traces the effort of Poland to enlist Napoleon's aid in their difficulties with Russia. When on a visit to Poland the Corsican becomes infatuated with the young Countess. Polish statesmen entreat her to use her influence with Napoleon in order to guarante his help. She encourages his advances and falls in love with him. The balance of the film deals with their romantic adventures.

"Old Wyoming Trail."

Charles Starrett in the western feature, "The Old Wyoming Trail," comes to the Majestic theater Friday for two days. The story follows the adventures of a cowboy who becomes involved in a range war in an effort to prevent an honest rancher from losing his land to a scheming crook and his henchmen. Starrett is supported by Barbara Weeks and Donald Grayson. Patricia Farr and Scott Colton in "All American Sweetheart," completes the feature attraction. The theater is host to the Kiddies' show Saturday which is usually held at the Madison. It has been transferred this week because of the stage show at the Madison. Chapter No. 12 of the serial, "Painted Stallion," will be shown.

"Blonde Trouble."

Eleanore Whitney and Johnny Downs head the cast of "Blonde Trouble," opening at the Ritz theater Friday. The film is the tale of a young song-writer about to be "taken" by a gold-digger who imagines that he has plenty of money and a rosy future. But suddenly he drops to the bottom, and is without a friend. The second film on the twin bill program will be the Hopalong Cassidy picture " with William Boyd, George Hayes and Jimmy Ellison. The picture casts Boyd as an undercover man for the Texas Rangers.
